

Amanda Contreras

I have really grown in my artistic abilities during the past 3 years. My art to me is important because it helps me to express myself in a new way. I like to combine my love of photography and painting into one art form. The butterflies are peaceful and the colors are the primary colors that I enjoy mixing in my other works.