VOICE

Till ready

Pat Mc-Car-ty, hale and heart-y, Liv-ing in O - re - gon, Pat Mc-Car-ty broke the part-y up in - to smi-ther-eens,

Heard a lot of talk a - bout the great New York; He Said "your bill of fare, would give a bull a scare; I left the farm, where all was calm and land - ed on old Broad-way, He want to eat, but I re - peat, I don't want to buy the place;" And coaxed a lit - tle Ma - ry Ann in - to a swell ca - fé. The Ma - ry Ann was sit - ting there with blush - es on her face. She wai - ter brought the card and said, "what will you have," to Pat; Then said, "I'll have a lit - tle steak, that's all I want right now;" And

Pat looked at the pric - es and he said, "I'll have me hat."
Pat said, "what it costs for steaks, why I could buy a cow."

CHORUS

Ar-rah go on, I'm gon-na go back to O-re-gon, Ar-rah go on, I'm gon-na go back and stay. I could buy the hors-es man-y a bale of hay, for all that I'd have to pay to feed a chick-en on old Broad-way, Ar-rah go on, there's some-bod - y back in O - re - gon, Who calls me Un - cle Pat, not Un - cle John; Ar - rah go on, go way, go wid yer go way, go wid yer go way, go on, Ar - rah go on, I'm gon-na go back to O - re - gon. Ar - rah go - gon.
