Senior Follies--Love! Love! Love!

Second Annual production of the Senior Follies promises to go on record as a smashing success from the time the curtain rises at 8:15 Thursday evening, May 17, till the finale chorus.

"Love! Love! Love!" centers around the adventures of a millionaire's son who enters a small town college under an assumed name. He meets the girl who loves him for himself and not his money. Complications arise when the campus flirt decides to capture him. Who finally triumphs will be disclosed in Act III Thursday night.

Snappy dances and Kute Khoruses will be the rule. Several special numbers are to be presented.

Wallace Caywood and Alice Beck, as two college students, will give a performance par excellence.

The very worthy producers of this year's Senior Follies are the Misses Katherine Willweber and Carmen Larison.

As the author of the play, Miss Willweber deserves all the credit that goes to her. Miss Willweber is also director of the speaking parts.

Miss Larison has had complete charge of all the music, costumes, and dancing. She is also the composer of the music for the Follies.

The cast is as follows:

- Bobby Jones (Robert Ely Anderson Jr.)
- Clifford Prather
- Mamie Brown (vamp)
- Grace Brownlee
- Shirley Greer (sweet co-ed)
- Genevieve D'Arcy
- Dad (Bob's rich father)
- Virgil Daniels
- Reggie (shiek)
- Newton Fogal
- College Students: Alice Beck, Jean Taylor, Janie Westerfield, Ida Hayes, Sadie Goodwin, Mildred Phillips, Wallace Caywood, Harvey Tyson.

Tempe Faculty For Next Year

Election of the Tempe State Teachers College Faculty, for the year 1928-29, by the Board of Education, has been completed.

There was practically a complete re-election of the old faculty except for several grants of leaves of absence and resignations.

The new faculty members are: Professor Don P. Hawkins who is to teach for Mr. Felton in the English Department during his leave of absence; Dr. L. S. McDaniel, who takes Mr. McCall's place in the mathematics department for the year; Dr. John O. Grimes, who succeeds Mr. Holiday in the department of education; Miss Anna Chladek, successor to Miss Van Trump critic in the Rural Training School; and Miss Gertrude Walter, who will substitute for Miss Gibbons in the junior high training school for the year.

These men and women come to Tempe Teachers College with high qualifications and broad experience in educational work. Don P. Hawkins, a member of the faculty at Deury College, Springfield, Missouri, is a graduate of Washington and Lee College, with the degrees A. B. and A. M. Upon the recommendation of Dr. Thomas W. Nodal, president of Deury College, and being a close friend of Mr. Felton, Mr. Hawkins was elected to substitute for Mr. Felton.

Dr. Grimes is a graduate of the University of Ohio and of the University of Michigan with a B. S. degree from the former school, and his A. M. and Ph. D. degrees from the latter. Part of the work for his doctorate was completed at Columbia University, New York. He was

Nadine Larimer Sahuro Editor For Next Year

At a recent Sahuro election, held by the Freshman class, Nadine Larimer was elected Editor in Chief, and Retha Bolding was elected to the position of Business Manager for the 1929 year book.

During the past year both girls have been active in school affairs. Nadine Larimer held the office of Secretary and Treasurer for both Semesters in the Freshman Class. She was an honor graduate from Phoenix High in the year 1927. At the present time Nadine is a member of the Zetetic and Geographic Societies.

Retha Bolding graduated from Glendale High School in 1927 with high honors.

Besides working faithfully as a class number, she is a member of Phi Beta Society.

Other nominees for Editor in Chief were: William Windes, John Hinshaw, and Zola Staples.

Helen Felton, Nadine Larimer and Farrel Dana were also nominated for Business Manager.

Our New Staff

Journalism and the annals of newspaperdom have recently acquired an important addition in the form of the new Collegian staff. These eight survived initiation and are therefore qualified and able to bear up under almost anything.

Chic Vihel, the new editor, finds his greatest talent in writing straight forward talk--"off the shoulder," as it were. And what is more important, he can get others to write it, too.

Chic's assistant, Sallie Stryker, is a lady of few words, quite a few in fact. She promises to assist Chic in a most worthy manner.

The new Shylock is John Hinshaw. He comes from the town where the climate is said to be slightly horrid, so it is to be surmised that hot words will not turn him from his pursuit of the dollars. As business manager, he is well qualified to make a splendid success.

When anything happens from now on, indefinitely, Fern Foltz will be there with a note book and smile. News is her business and as news editor she'll be on the job.

Vesta Foster needs only one small item, a lorgnette, to complete her adequate equipment for society editor. Teas, parties and pretty ladies are her line, and if they aren't pretty, she'll make them so--in the writup.

Harold Nichols will be seen hurrying about the campus and outlying districts busily engaged in circulating, for he is the new circulation manager.

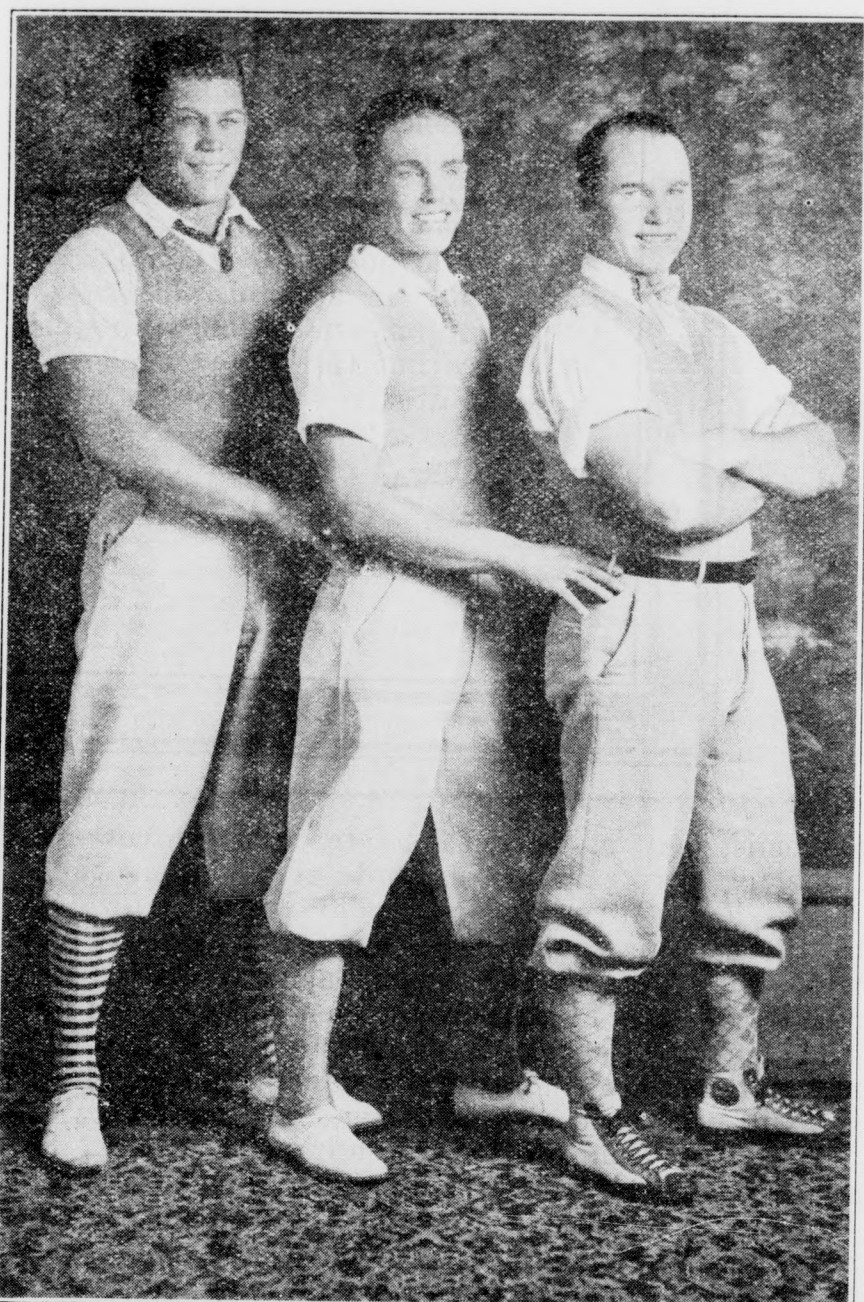

Marna Simms as feature editor may write anything she pleases about whomever she pleases. She occupies a unique position on the staff, but one well suited to her talents.

Takes Short Trip

Dr. Matthews recently took a three day trip to the northern part of the state visiting Prescott, Clarkdale, and Jerome.

Visits High Schools

Mr. Irish, during the past week, has been visiting various high schools in the state, namely: Safford, Thatcher, Solomonville, Morenci, Duncan, and Metcalf.

Tempe Boys Plan Canadian Tour

Bert Goodrich, Normal Senior, and Forest Stroup, Freshman; both well known about the T. S. T. C. campus for gymnastic prowess, will leave the last day of school for an extended tour. With their manager, Jack Schaller, and Oaka Stewart, Bert and Forest make up the "Four Sensational Jacks" troupe. The boys will meet their manager in Los Angeles and will then go to Seattle, Washington. From there they will go to Chicago on their way to Winnipeg, Canada.

"The Four Sensational Jacks" will do Canadian fairs this summer. Last year the troupe worked vaudeville on the West coast. "The Four Sensational Jacks" claim the distinction of putting on the world's highest aerial act. The troupe is not a side show. Everything is done in front of the grand stand and the troupe is paid by the fair commission. They have worked at the St. Louis Exposition, the Missouri State Fair, Nebraska State Fair, South Dakota State fair, and "Days of '76" at Deadwood, South Dakota. They also worked at the Arizona state fair three years ago and plan to be there again next year. They have played at leading amusement parks in Colorado, Oregon and Missouri. Last summer they worked in a moving picture in Hollywood: "Tillie's Punctured Romance," a feature comedy for Christy Studios.

This season the troupe will put on four different acts: 1-high aerial act--one hundred feet in air, in which trapezing and teeth routines are done. 2--Straight acrobatic act. 3--Hand bouncing act. 4--Comedy act.

Bert began doing acrobatic work the summer of '24, when he gave his first performance at a fourth of July celebration in Miami, Okla and Forest, both high school friends of Bert, got together and practiced with him.

They saw Schaller perform and were eager to meet him. Schaller met the boys and induced them to go on the road with him.

The boys are going to Tempe College with the coaching course as their objective. They intend to sometime have a school of their own for gymnastics, dancing and acrobatic work.

Week-End Guest Mothers' Day Honored

Dr. Nils Horner, Swedish geologist who is spending the year in the United States was a visitor of the valley and college during the week-end. Dr. Horner is connected with the Swedish Geological Survey. He came here from Tucson with Dr. W. M. Davis and was a guest at the banquet given by the Arizona Geographical Society in honor of Dr. Davis. On Sunday he was the guest of Mr. Hoover and accompanied him and Dr. Davis on an excursion to Granite Reef Dam. Dr. Horner was interested primarily in the ground water conditions in the valley.

In honor of Mother's Day, the "Y" held a special program, on Thursday evening, May 10. Ellen Burke acted as chairman, announcing the following program: History of Mother's Day, Ellen Burke Reading, Edna Peterson Talk, "Mothers" Mrs. J. R. Murdock Vocal Solo, "Son of Mine" accompanied by Kathleen McNelly Closing Prayer, Mary Golden. All girls present received a beautiful rose bud, and a poem, suitable for the occasion.

Summer Plans Tempe Faculty Members Dean Felton To Go Abroad

Members of the faculty of Tempe College have many and diverse plans for spending the summer. Many of them have work and accomplishment as their objective. The resignations of Mr. Holladay and Miss Van Trump have been accepted and both plan to continue work and study. Mr. Holladay is going to the University of Iowa at Iowa City.

Mr. Brown, critic of seventh grade Junior High school, will go to Kansas State Teachers' College, Emporia, Kansas; where he will teach classes in Elementary Instruction. The Kansas school is his Alma Mater as Mr. Brown was graduated from there five years ago.

Mr. Waltz and Mr. McCall are both planning summer work. Mr. Waltz will spend six weeks at Berkeley doing research work in political science. Mr. Noll plans to spend at least a part of his summer in a citizen's Military Training Camp.

Athletic Awards Given Winners

Athletic trophies earned under a point system promoted by the Physical Education Department were presented to the winners in Assembly, Monday, May 14. Mr. Irish decked the girls with their medals.

Highest point girl was Margaret O'Connor who has to her credit 884 points for the two years. "Peggy" carried off a letter, sweater and a bulldog pin. Eva Rhodes came second with a total of 792 points.

Bulldog pins were awarded to the following girls, Margaret O'Connor, Eva Rhodes, Nellie Graham, and Kathleen Burgham.

Making one first team the first year, two first teams the second year, different from that of the first year, and a "B" grade in Folk Dancing entitled the following to sweaters: Edna Graham, Virginia Hatch, Margaret O'Connor, Nellie Graham, Mary Weddington and Louise Narcross.

Particularly good looking are the maroon and gold blankets that were awarded to Rachel Bogart, Kathleen Burgham, Virgie Harris, Eva Rhodes, Lillian O'Connor, and Maria Urdiques.

Jean Taylor was presented with a silver loving cup for winning the girls' singles in tennis. The cup was offered by Laird and Dines.

Five girls in Tempe College have hiked 280 miles in their two years here. They are: Virgie Harris, the Graham sisters, Kathleen Burgham and Louise Narcross.

Frosh to Entertain Tempe Seniors

Annually, the Freshmen class of Tempe State Teachers College entertain the Seniors. This year the Frosh will stage a swimming party down at Tempe pool, Monday evening, May 21, from 4 to 6 is the date set. Dinner will be served at the dining hall at 6:30. Then from 7 to 10 there will be a dance in the new gym.

Arrangements committee for the picnic and dance headed by Mary Humphries, chairman, with her assistants, Retha Bolding, Caroline Contreras, Robert Smith, and Edie Hoffmire urge the entire Freshman class to attend the swim and dance in order to show the Seniors a good time. Let's be there 240 strong!

Bulldogs Easily Win Track Meet

FIVE RECORDS SHATTERED BY PEDAGOGUES

Receiving little opposition from Phoenix Junior College and Phoenix Indian school aggregations, the Bulldogs captured the state informal college championship by amassing the huge total of 76 points in a track meet held in the Phoenix stadium May 5.

Junior College trailed second with 24 points and the Indians next with 17; all which proves that the Teacher's supremacy in track is not to be denied, with one of the best track and field teams in the history of the college, representing the institution.

The pedagogues in addition to winning the meet and the title succeeded in shattering five informal records.

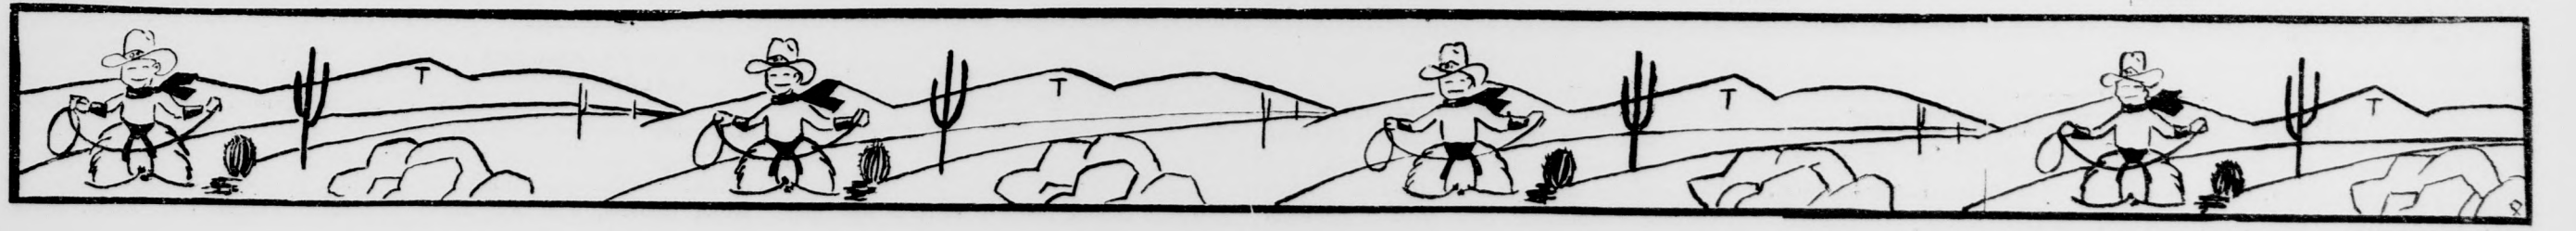

Bill Griffith hurled the discus for a new record of 127 feet, 7 inches, in the outstanding performance of the day. Ed Grasmoen also broke the state record in the high jump by soaring five feet eleven inches, 2 inches better than the old record.

"Chick" Vihel broke his own record of 53.15 seconds in the 440 yard dash, when he circled the oval in 52.15 seconds.

Willard shattered the javelin record of 162 feet, 9 inches by tossing the spear 164 feet, 8 inches.

The relay team composed of Goodrich, McCarty, Caywood, and Tyson established a new 1/2 mile relay record by covering the distance in the time of one minute, 35 seconds.

Because of their stellar performance, the Teachers brought back with them three more trophy cups, one for the championship, another for the relay, and the cup for the high point man, won by Bert Goodrich. Bert won one first place, and two seconds for a total of eleven points.

Entered at the Tempe, Arizona, Post Office as second-class matter.

A MODERN FASHION

It seems the fashion nowadays to be dissatisfied. If a college student is perfectly contented in his surroundings, he shelters his shameful secret so well that we never hear of him. If a business man believes that his success is complete enough to make him happy, he is a curiosity and quite below our stratum in society.

Coming down to us, if we do like a course we don't talk about that! We must put out the one day in all the year when that particular course bores us, and discuss with non-chalant sophistication the ennui of college life. And the instructors, too, suffer from this modern illness. If a class is thickheaded on one day out of one-hundred eighty, that is the worst class in the college throughout all the years that Mr. XYZ has been here. The fellow who feels that he is not in his world in college is the same fellow who scoffs at mother's admonitions, and the girl who is superciliously above the common herd in school is the same girl who ridicules father's disapproval of highly-painted lips.

If we must criticize someone, why not direct the charges at ourselves? That would be original, and how modern it is to be original! We are too afraid of the stagnation in everlasting satisfaction, and too careless of the cancer of fault-finding.

WHY MUST IT BE LIGHTS OUT?

Lights on or off? That question troubles every girl, enrolled in Tempe State Teachers College, who lives on the campus. The Powers that Be have said "Let there be darkness." And there has been darkness in every girl's dormitory each night after 10:30. No reason is given to the encautious few who are curious enough to question the extinguishing of the lights. They are left to their own idle speculations.

Is it to save expense, perhaps that lights are forbidden. That question is answered in a most obvious fashion, by the lights that blaze cheerily from dark to dawn in the rooms in Alpha Hall. No it cannot be a question of dollars and cents.

The thought occurs; it may be an effort at beauty culture on the part of the authorities. Possibly their ambition is to have the drab school rooms of the desert districts brightened by the rosy cheeks and sparkling eyes of beautiful teachers. But, no, the authorities only nod commiseratingly over the broken arms, wrists, and noses which are sustained in the Physical Education department. And surely these do more to mar the beauty of the budding teacher than would a few dark circles about the eyes.

There is only one solution that appears possible. It is that the Powers That Be are afraid that too much wisdom will be absorbed, that too many great thots will trouble uninformed brains, that too many A's will be sent to parents with weak hearts. This must be the reason! In order to still the fevered activity, to in some measure calm the frenzied search for knowledge and give its devotees a brief respite in the enemy hours, the lights are ordred out.

TEMPE IS A GREAT SCHOOL, BUT—

What this institution really lacks is a honest-to-goodness brass band. What, under this gorgeous Arizona of ours, can instill more "pep" and "college spirit" into our dormant student body, than a school band; playing the school songs; playing to cheer the boys on the athletic field; playing to let everyone know that we, as students, are attending a live wire school with up-to-the-minute ideas.

What was the first things that took your attention at Homecoming Celebration held in Flagstaff last year? Of course it was their band, welcoming the old grads, adding hilarity to the occasion, encouraging the Flagstaff rooters to wondrous heights in their yells at the football game; in short, putting the school on the map. Why is it that our "pep" meetings always result in listless affairs attended by about 5 per cent of our student body? Just ask the yell leader and he will answer that the students must be attracted and encouraged to the rallies, and this attraction can only be furnished by a band. Furhermore he will contend that a band is as essential to a school, as it is to a successful army.

Yes, Tempe is a great school, but it lacks a brass band! Maybe next year—

DRESS AND PUBLIC OPINION

Styles are created by youth; fashions express an average, a kind of sum total of what young people insist upon wearing. Of themselves neither the extremist nor the conservative creates the mode of the moment. The extremist may, and often does, forecast the correst costume for ten years hence, while at the same time she shocks her contemporaries. Today we recognize a girl by the contour of her legs; ten years ago she had no legs,—they were limbs. In any age the girl or woman who dares dress in a way to disgust conservative people, finds herself in an uneviable position. She may be popular with some men, but if she wants a job or a husband she will need field glasses and much persistence.

What are some of today's unwise costumes? Skirts above the knees, bathing suits worn anywhere except at the pool, gym suits worn at any time except for regular athletics. The girl guilty of violations of good taste may think she does not care what people may say; some day she may find that she does care, tremendously.

A COMEUP OR A COMEDOWN

Cheer up! The end has begun to conclude! But before you cheer up too thoroughly, think of that bitter struggle before you. How did you come out last quarter? More important, how's the old mind working this semester? Is it hitting on all four, or—for the intelligentsia and the cognoscenti—on all six?

If you haven't learned how to study, this is a grand time to start. You'd have a rare accomplishment to vaunt this summer; you'd have a whole new topic of conversation; and you might have something to help toward that teaching job you'd like to have. There's a little time left. Use it, just to be different. It would be great to leave with a satisfied feeling! How about it? Will it be a comeup or a comedown in the next week?

Montezuma's Castle

High up on a cliff accessible only by climbing several ladders stands the weather beaten, grim Indian cliff dwellings known as Montezuma's Castle. The Geographic Society, who visited this point of interest on their Jerome trip, climbed the several ladders, found more ladders inside which were also promptly climbed and soon assembled on the "roof" of the structure.

Then the guide, Mr. Jackson, made his appearance and took the party through the rooms calling attention to many thing which revealed the history of the people who had lived there centuries before.

The structure showed five distinct stages of development.

A few weeks ago an engineer visited the castle and told Mr. Jackson, after examining it, that it was a physical impossibility for the structure to be there at all! But there it was, and has been for 300 years deserted. No one knows how long it stood before it was abandoned. The engineer noticing that the building was sloped toward the cliff at the top, declared that a building of this structure should be sloped an inch to every foot of altitude. By means of pebbles, sticks and strings, he found that the building was sloped in 24 inches and the castle is 24 feet high!

Another startling discovery of the wisdom of these ancient people was made not long ago. There is a ventilation hole near the floor of one of the rooms. It had been a problem for some time why these people had placed a ventilation hole near the floor. Within the last few months however, scientists have discovered that there are some poisonous gases in the air which settle to the floor rather than rise to the roof. Is it possible that these Indians knew three hundred years ago what science has just discovered?

Another interesting room was one evidently used as a "nursery." There was a groove cut in the floor that made a comfortable place to sit, on each side of the fireplace. Carvings on the wall were near the floor, just at a convenient level for a child to carve. The roof of this room also was very ornamental in comparison with the others. Huge black beams formed the roofs of all the rooms. They were covered with reeds held in place by thongs.

Doors to the castle were low and the bottom of them so cut that there was a resting place for your hands as you stooped to enter. There is a port hole for every possible approach to the dwelling. Every safe guard seems to have been taken to make the castle a stronghold and a place of safety.

After descending from the castle the party visited the museum. Materials, sandals, bows and arrows, skulls, mummies and many relics taken from the castle are displayed at the museum.

It is thought provoking to wonder about these people, their customs, their beliefs, and their manner of living.

Dorothy Abbot made a visit to her home in Tucson last week-end.

Essences

Life is a mixture of essences,
If you who teach us
Could only understand
The dullness of our minds, overtired,
As we rush from class to class
Gathering essences—
Essences of good things:
Truth and love and living;
Essences of right things
And measured mental conquests;
Essences of new things:
Tearing down stubborn-born worlds
In a shapeless instant.
If you who teach us
Could only understand
That our dull mistakes
And all our senseless answerings
Are but the unlovely odors
Of ill-mixed essences!

Dr. Davis Chief Speaker at Banquet

Dr. Wm. Morris Davis was the guest of honor and chief speaker at a banquet given by the Arizona Geographical Society at the Arizona Club on Saturday evening May 12.

Dr. Davis is a geographer and scientist of international renown. He is the author of a number of texts in Physiography and Meteorology including texts in French and German. The American Geographical Society has just published a large volume by Dr. Davis on the subject of coral reefs. At present he is writing a text on college physiography. He carries honorary degrees from a number of foreign universities and is gold medalist of important geographical and scientific societies having honorary or active affiliations with about forty. He has been a member of scientific expeditions to central Asia, Australia and South Africa and was for several years connected with the Argentine astronomical observatory at Cordoba. Dr. Davis has been responsible for much of our system and terminology in physiography.

The banquet was attended by about 40 people interested in geography including many prominent citizens of Phoenix and elsewhere. Dr. Davis gave an interesting chalk talk on the interaction of rivers. Brief talks were also given by Mr. F. J. Crider, director of the Thompson Desert Arboretum; O. S. Halseth, director of the Arizona Museum, and Dr. A. J. Matthews. Another honor guest of the evening was Dr. Nils Honor of the Swedish Geological Survey. Dr. Horner spoke briefly of Upsala University, its history and work.

Members of the college Geographic Society who attended the banquet were Harold Nichols, president elect of the society, Whalen Ewing, Ilene Joyce, and Mr. and Mrs. Krause. Mr. Ewing created quite an interest by playing a couple of numbers on his musical saw. On Sunday Dr. Davis and Dr. Horner were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hoover. On Sunday morning Mr. Hoover conducted them on an excursion over the valley and to the Granite Reef Dam.

"A Last Thought"

Why am I restless, lonesome, and blue?

Because, T. S. T. C., I'll soon be leaving you.

These old buildings, stately and wide—
Within these walls would I longer abide.

I've loved you, hated you—
And still, I cannot leave you,
I've shirked, and I've studied,
Two long, yet short years thru.

Studying, working, or playing—
Amid these walls now graying,
"I love you, Alma Mater,"—
Hear these words I'm saying?

All the friendships that I've made,
I sincerely hate to leave.
I love you because of them,
So I cannot help but grieve.

All the tests that I have flunked—
All the note books I have junked,
I'd do them all o'er perfect—
Good work in all respect.

If I could but herein linger,
I would never lift a finger,
To malign your ancient walls,
Or mutilate your dear old halls.

I am glad that it's all over,
All this worry, doubt, and fear,
I am glad I'm going to graduate,
But I hate to leave you, school so dear.

All my fun and happiness,
All my scrapes, and escapades, too—
Are but relics of the past,
Dear, dim memories of you.

And so I hope you prosper—
Grow great and well-known far,
For I love you, hate to leave you,
And nothing can your standard mar.

CORRINE E. JONES.

The History of Tempe

In 1872 the foundation of the flour mill, called the Hayden Mill was laid and the Hayden Ditch was begun, the latter brought the water from the Salt River above Tempe about five miles.

After a few pioneers, who were working for Mr. Hayden settled down, they built roads of dirt and sand. Since Tempe is in the river valley the earth is mixed with sand, and a great deal of sand was not needed to surface the roads.

Not many years later Tempe was big enough to go on the map, for it had a number of houses, a larger population, and the mill was using its quota of six hundred inches of water for power.

In 1885 the Normal School with an appropriation of six thousand dollars constructed a building. The structure was one of four rooms, and Mr. Bradford Farmer was the first principal of the Tempe Normal School.

In 1912 the Southern Pacific Railroad placed a black steel bridge across the Salt River near Tempe, this gave Tempe a chance to communicate with the outside world.

Tempe has been growing fast. Many children go to the three schools, in fact the Tempe Training school has so many that it is finding it necessary to build a new school for them this summer.

Miss Hayden and Miss Murphy heads of the Physical Education De-

We Thank You

To the Editor: Tempe has meant home, happiness and many things to do. Work and play interchanged have filled the two years and sped them on, too rapidly perhaps.

Believing that charity begins at home, we wish to start with the staff first. They have already received formal notes of appreciation, but these are points not mentioned before.

Mr. Business Manager: We thank you for calling the editor "the girl with extravagant ideas" when she spent too much money.

Miss News Editor: We thank you for the shoe leather you saved her.

Miss Associate Editor: We thank you for the meek way you took the order—"Write an editorial."

Mr. Athletic Editor: We thank you for all the space you filled.

Miss Society Editor: We thank you for keeping our "400" in good humor.

Mr. Circulation Manager: We thank you for all your pains.

Miss Cartoonist: We thank you for all the cuts.

Dr. Matthews: We thank you for the new staff room. May the new staff keep it next year.

Miss Dobbs: We thank you for all the envelopes—the great, large ones and the pleasant you gave them.

Mr. McGinnis and Mr. Hackett: We thank you for the reams of green paper and the glue.

Mr. Noll: We thank you for the Remington. With another ribbon, it will still be as good as new.

Our Contributors: We thank you for daring to brave the red pencil and the waste basket.

New Staff: We thank you for taking initiation in the spirit we gave it.

Our Readers: We hope you have enjoyed the Collegian and we wish you joy in your work next year.

Sarah Edgar recently spent the week-end in Florence as the guest of Peggy Knowlan.

Ann Craig was a guest at a swimmin' party, given last week at the Tempe Beach.

Miss Billie Ennis of Superior was a guest at South Hall last week.

Tomorrow is the only day one should not start living within one's income.

Talk about love at first sight—some of 'em must fall in love without looking at all!

Cash is frequently "cold" cash simply because we do not keep it long enough for it to get warm.

Bulldogs Lose Last Game of Season 7-5

Turning the tables on the college nine, the Phoenix Junior college won the last game of the season played on the Phoenix diamond on May 5th.

The Teachers besides losing Barney, stellar third baseman before the game, did not play their usual brand of ball and lost all chances they had of winning the game by foolhardy base running, four Tempe players being caught off the bags at opportune times for scoring.

Junior High News

MY HOME TO BE
I'll write you a poem about my home
Up in the mountains cool and free,
Where the wild deer joyfully roam,
That is where I long to be.

'Tis there the eagle holds his sway,
'Tis there he carried his captured prey,
The mountain goat so wild and shy,
Can there be seen on the cliffs so high.

'Tis there the prospector toils along,
In the evening one hears his hopeful song,
Don't you wish that you were I,
In my home so near the sky?
DOROTHY HALLFORD.

"LA CHOLLA"
"La Cholla" is coming out again this year. It is the second year that the Junior High School has published an annual.

We have worked hard on it. It contains records of the Junior High school activities. There are also stories, legends and poems written by the junior high school boys and girls.

We are sure that the teachers who have taught in the Junior High School want one. They cost thirty-five cents, and can be bought of any Junior High school boy or girl. Get your "La Cholla," it sticks—
DORIS WOOD,
LYNNWOOD MEREDITH.

SCHOOL'S SOON OUT
I'll soon be time for shouting and
for joy,
With no more rules for girl or boy;
No more teachers with papers and books,
Or stern-eyed critics with lofty looks.
If you wish, throw your books into the stove,
And with rod and fish hook begin to rove.
Chew all you want of blackjack gum,
And play marbles, (and gamble some.)
By DORIS WOOD, Eight Grade.

JUNIOR HIGH PLAYS EIGHTH GRADE
Junior Hi second team played Eighth Street second team Friday evening May 4. The score was 14 to 7 in favor of Junior Hi. The Junior Hi lineup was: Corbett and Gabbard catchers; Harden and Manley pitchers; Meredith and Manley first basemen; Butler, second base;
Ben Thatcher, third; Smith and Pyle right field; Corbett and Payne left field; and Bowman centerfield. The game was very well played and was a tight score until the last inning when the Junior Hi boys piled up to win the game.
MARSHAL MANLEY.

JUNIOR HIGH WINS SOUTHSIDE BASEBALL CUP
Tempe Junior High school won the Southside baseball cup this year. At the beginning of the season, we played seven games losing two. We lost from Scottsdale, 7-5, in the first game and Creston school of Phoenix defeated us with a 4-1 score, in the second game. But many experienced players came out for baseball and Junior High won five games with Roosevelt of Phoenix; Wilson of Phoenix; Scottsdale in a second game, Junior High running away from Scottsdale with a score of 9-1;

and two games with Tempe Grammar school.

In the next series of games the scores were:
Junior Hi. 18, Lehi 1.
Junior Hi. 6, Alma 0.
Junior Hi. 9, Mesa 1.
Gilbert forfeited their game because they did not have a good team.

If Alma had won the cup, they could have kept it for good. They have had it for two years and this would have been their third year.
But now we are going to keep it for three straight years or until it rusts in the cup case.
EDWARD BOJORQUEZ.

TWIN BUTTES
Once in a tribe of Indians that lived long ago, there were three brothers. The two elder brothers always got the best of everything and were always very mean to their younger brother, whose name was Peahaturha.

There was in the same tribe a beautiful Indian maiden, called Apelachi, whom all the brothers liked very much. The two elder brothers were very jealous of Peahaturha, because he was the most handsome of the three, and Apelachi seemed to like him the best.

One day as Peahaturha was out hunting, he met Apelachi out walking. He stopped hunting and went along with her. As they were walking along they met Peahaturha's brothers. They immediately tied his hands and feet so he couldn't get away. Just as they started to kill him, the great spirit turned them into two large rocks. Apelachi loosened Peahaturha's bounds and they walked away together, never to be bothered by the two wicked brothers again.

If you ever go out south of Tempe,
you will see these large rocks standing. They are called the "Twin Buttes."
VIRGINIA LEE AUSTIN.

MOCK DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION
The Intercollegiate Mock Democratic Convention, will take place at Smith College, Northampton, Massachusetts, on May 18th and 19th. The convention will be composed of delegates not only of the larger Eastern Colleges, but also from many of the Western colleges such as the University of Chicago and Northwestern.

Immediately following the conclusion of the Nominating Convention, the delegates assembled will organize a permanent non partisan intercollegiate organization whose purpose shall be to facilitate cooperation among college political groups, arrange for an exchange of ideas,

and the dissemination of information making for better citizenship, such as material regarding the registration of college men as absentee voters. This organization will also do everything possible to stimulate intelligent and forward looking interest in public questions among the college men of America.

Collegian Staff Duly Initiated

Papago Park—Victrollette—Food—Dance of the Dirty Shirt (Chic's interpretation) blood c u r d l i n g screams (see Marna for particulars) and branding iron, make up the nucleus of the Collegian staff picnic, new and old, concocted and administrated by the old staff last Monday night.

Chagrin on their faces and the Collegian "C" brand noticeable, the new members Tuesday morning bore witness to the success of Monday night's escapade.
Individual tests given were passed with comparative success, Chic Vihl's "Dance of the Dirty Shirt and the Wet Towel," was a work of art.

Johnnie Hinshaw may prove to be a good business manager for the Collegian but when it comes to threading needles he's a flop!
Sallie Stryker's soloette "Dutch Cleanser a la mode" did her much honor.
Marna, Fern and Vesta passed their test with ease due to the fact that they have flat heads.

Harold Nichols and Frank Blazina staged an interesting newspaper battle although it was not appreciated very highly by a certain staff member.
The evening's swim, fun and mystics was climaxed by the installation ceremony supervised by Mr. Hoover.
The club Mr. Hoover held in his hand looked very dangerous and the new editor plans to use the gift in his business.

Tuesday morning, the old staff regretted the appearance of their initiation on the campus. It sensed a lack of severity in the initiation rites, but since selection was made from the fittest, they had to survive.
Guests of the staff were Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hoover and Merrill Hatch, former athletic editor of the Collegian.

The Kicker

I hate to be a kicker,
I always long for peace,
But the wheel that does the squeaking
Is the one that gets the grease.

It's nice to be a peaceful soul,
And not too hard to please,
But the dog that's always scratching
Is the one that has the fleas.

Take the parts of a lizzy,
Which are really very rare,
The tire that gets the puncture,
Is the one that gets repair.

Take the fire of the lizzy,
Which goes through the coil,
The one that does the missing,
Is what makes the water boil.

The boy in the Buick,
Who passes you like a whirl,
He's the flashy fellow
Who always gets the girl.

While talking of the girls,
Remember this one please,
The one that can't get a fellow,
Is the one who likes to tease.

The girls that do the painting,
These kind I'm sure you've met,
They're the kind we always take,
No other can we get.

There are a few things,
That happen around the barn,
The hog that does the squealing,
Is the one that gets the corn.

Take the horses in the corral,
For these I have to say,
The one that does the kicking,
Is the one that gets the hay.

People kick about our drinking judge,
And over him do gloat,
But surely they are the people,
Who for Mr. Spriggs did vote.

They wear a long face on Sunday,
And dare not try to laugh,
But they know the price of a pint,
Is exactly two and a half.

Don't forget the taxpayer,
For instance Welker, Mutt,
They're the crying kind,
Who get their taxes cut.

"I hate to be a kicker"
Means nothing in a show,
For the kickers in the chorus,
Are the ones that get the dough.

The art of soft soap spreading,
Is sometimes awfully stale,
But the guy who welds the hammer,
Is the guy who drives the nail.

Let me not put any notions
That are harmful in your head,
But the baby who keeps yelling,
Is the baby that gets fed.

—Exchange.

THE NON-COLLEGIAN'S CREED

The average American believes that:
To go to college one must wear baggy balloon trousers.

Brown of Harvard is the Cambridge color.

The college widow is the dean of men.

College professors are all absent-minded.

Football men practice with milk bottles.

Studious boys always wear glasses and use big words.

Co-eds have dates every night and three times on Sunday.

The campus belle is the dean's daughter.

Cheer leaders are double jointed.
Students go around saying "Rah, rah!" and "Hay, hay."

College men invented flasks.
The campus dumb bell scores the winning touchdown.

The fair-co-ed kisses eleven men
after the big game.

The philosophy prof slams his wife and kisses the door.

The frat huse is the house that
"jack" built.

Studs always try to make the frattheir dad belonged to.

JOKES

"What made you smile so sweetly just after I kissed you, Hon?"
"I was just imagining what you'd do if you knew I was a diphtheria carrier."

"Why do you bring suit for divorce against this man?"
"Well, your honor, he made me wash his back every Saturday night."

"And do you consider that sufficient grounds for divorce?"
"No, Judge, but last Saturday night his back was already clean."

One thing this Collegian does. For the old staff it marks the end of infinite worries, whether the jokes are too Clean for the Public, too Dirty for the Faculty, or too humorous to be original.

HAROLD NICHOLS GEOGRAPHIC PRESIDENT

Last Thursday evening the Geo-graphis Society selected its officers for the coming year. Upon Harold Nichols was conferred the honor and responsibility of the leadership of the society. The choice was a tribute to Mr. Nichols' fidelity and interest in the activities of the society as well as to his ability and geographic attainments.

Other officers selected were:
Secretary-treasurer—Meredith Bishop
Vice-President ..... Evelyn Carlson
Librarian ..... Ilene Joyce
James Rundell

On Friday evening the Society will hold the last meeting of the school year on the Hoover lawn. At that time new officers will be installed.
