

'A' Painted By Nocturnal Vandals

SOMETHING new has been added! Isn't that a "beaut" on the Butte?

In spite of clearly defined traditional delegation of responsibility for vigilance, the morning of October 28 dawned bright and clear on a masterfully executed paint job applied to the "A" on Tempe Butte. It would appear that faces on the Sun Devil campus should reflect those shades of red and blue.

On Wednesday night somebody from "somewhere" was able to climb the hill and carefully apply hostile colors to the monogram, even showing lights in the process, it is rumored.

SUN DEVILS, WILDCATS BATTLE IN BIG GAME

SITE OF ARIZONA'S COLLEGIATE grid battle of the year, the University of Arizona stadium, recently enlarged by additions to the left section of the stadium, will be figuratively bursting at the seams before the 8 p. m. kick-off time for the Sun Devil-Wildcat conflict tomorrow. Five thousand Valley fans will journey to Tucson.

ASC Eleven Is 'Up' For Game With Cats

5,000 Sun Devil Rooters Expected To Make Trek; Demons Practice At 'Shangrila' Secret Base

By JACK CHILDERS

SEEKING their third victory in 22 meetings, the Sun Devils clash with their cousins from "Nogales Junction," the University of Arizona Wildcats, tomorrow night in the Old Pueblo. The kickoff is slated for 8:00 o'clock at Varsity stadium.

The Devils, as usual in this contest, will enter the fray on the short end of the odds, despite their showing so far this year. The Wildcats get the favorite's nod because of the more powerful opposition they have encountered this season.

The Demons don't play according to statistics, however, and to quote Ed Doherty, State mentor, "The boys will be 'up' for this game."

Most of the Staters are in top condition and will be out to avenge last year's 26-13 defeat at the hands of the Enke-inspired Wildcats. Arizona is minus Firin' Freddie this year, but the Devils will have Charlie Hall, bruising fullback from Globe; Tom Carpenter, sophomore fullback star from Hawaii; Eddie Wolgast, fleetfooted scatback; and Sol Ahee, brainy quarterback to contend with in the encounter heralded as this state's "grid game of the year."

The two big question marks for the Devils are Charlie Beall and Bob Rippe. Beall has been benched thus far this season by a broken foot acquired in pre-season scrimmage. Rippe, first string tackle, recently was relieved of a cumbersome cast on his hand, and it is doubtful that his broken hand will be mended well enough for him to see action.

In the twenty-one games played to date, Tempe has emerged victorious only twice. The Maroon and Gold won the opener of the series back in the football dark ages—1899—by a score of 11-2. The only other win grabbed by State came in 1931 when the "Bulldogs" defeated the 'Cats 19-6.

Arizona has managed to win the remainder of the games by at least a two TD margin, except in 1919, when they won only 7-0. In ten of the Arizona victories the Wildcats were able to hold the Staters scoreless.

Regardless of the armchair quarterback's predictions, this game invariably turns out to be a hard fought battle (except, of course, the disastrous game in 1946 which (Continued on Page Nine)

Takes Correspond With Band Leader

Personal communication and correspondence with Horace Heidt has been made by Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity to wind-up plans for the TEKE Talent Show.

Roy Suave, chairman, recently received a letter from Heidt giving many pointers on organizing the program. The Teke program will be styled after his radio program.

The show will be presented in the college auditorium on December 2 in conjunction with Homecoming week. Outstanding citizens from the Valley and the college will act as judges for the show, and numerous prizes will be awarded the winners.

Beginning November 1, interviews will continue through November 5 in the vice president's office of the Associated Student Body quarters in the Library annex between 1 and 4 p. m. All students interested in being auditioned are urged to file applications at this time.

Enrollment Is 167 At Thunderbird

According to L. F. Riggin, director of Arizona State college Vocational school at Thunderbird Field No. 2, enrollment has mounted to 167 students for the fall semester.

The auto mechanics department has added two important pieces of equipment to their collection: a boring bar used to bore cylinders, and a front-end machine to correct axle and wheel alignment.

A new dust-proof spray booth was recently installed in the paint department, which can spray nine cars with synthetic enamel at once.

Asks Good Conduct

"Many of our students will doubtless go to the game in Tucson. This contest bids fair to attract the largest crowd ever to witness a football game in Arizona. These people will gain an impression of our College and its students through what they see and hear at this game.

"I have every confidence our students will keep in mind the fact they are representatives of the College and will act in line with the way they would like to have the College represented.

"On such occasions, when enthusiasm runs high, it is easy to depart from the normal and accepted patterns of behaviour. It is easy to become thoughtless about the results of one's actions. This little statement is just a gentle reminder to us all to proceed to Tucson with spirit and enthusiasm and at the same time with the full consciousness that we carry with us the good name of the College."

President Grady Gammage.

Governor Garvey Opens State Fair

Acting Governor Dan E. Garvey will officially open Arizona's State Fair Friday, Nov. 5 at 10 a. m. when he cuts a barricade of twined blue and gold ribbons spanning the big main gates, Harry L. Nace, Commission chairman, announced yesterday.

All the color, traditions, and gaiety of the fair, one of the oldest festivals known to man, will be included in the annual celebration, which opens Nov. 5.

The college band will be featured Wednesday, Nov. 10, and many others will participate.

1948 Homecoming To Honor Classes From '08 Thru '38

PLANS FOR THE sixty-fourth Homecoming celebration, scheduled for the first week of December, got under way last week under the leadership of James Creasman, Alumni secretary.

Student chairmen are George Sessions, Avondale, Homecoming committee; and John Pole, Phoenix, parade marshal. Creasman was named chairman of a steering committee which will oversee all other committees.

Steering Committee Chairman Creasman has asked all campus organizations which plan to hold some form of event or activity during the Homecoming week to bring all information pertaining to this undertaking to him so that he may publish it in the Alumni publication, The Statesman, which goes to press November 6.

The executive secretary of the alumni group emphasizes the importance of publication of all facts relating to Homecoming so alumni will be well informed of the activities awaiting them during their "Big Week" at Arizona State.

Also on the steering committee are George C. Yates, director of the department of special services; Mrs. Mildred B. Sayre, dean of women; Paul V. Trovillo, dean of men; June Cross, president of Associated Women students; Orlin Waas, president of Associated Students, and Pat Dalton, vice president of Associated Students.

Classes of 1908, 1918, 1928, and 1938 will be honored. The high- (Continued on Page Ten)

Arthur Whittemore and Jack Lowe, nationally acclaimed piano duo, will appear as guest artists tonight in the college auditorium in the second program under the auspices of the College Concert series.

Whittemore and Lowe will entertain the faculty, students, and administration of the college with their versatile piano renditions.

Their music covers two fields: serious and popular. Among their most popular numbers are "Doubling on the Ivories" and "Two Grand." Too, their classical offerings have brought high praise from critics.

Only students, and employees of the college may attend the concert. Students must present their Activity cards in order to be admitted.

Dance Broadcasts To Continue

With several hundred couples attending the dance in the Activity building following the game last Friday evening, Pat Dalton, Associated Student body vice-president, announced that due to its popularity a similar dance will be held again in November.

Broadcasting from the stage of the Activity building, Andy Wilson, KOOL disk jockey, interviewed students concerning the outcome of tomorrow's clash with the university. Wilson predicts Arizona State will win by at least one touchdown.

Students desiring special request numbers are asked to mail these to Wilson, who will feature them at the next dance to originate on campus for college students.

Dalton also stated that through efforts of the Associated Students and Wilson, invitations are to be extended to Artie Wayne, the Pled Pipers, and the Ernie Felice quartet, to be guests at the Homecoming dance in December.

Your Vote Is Important Nov 3.

By JACK SWIFT.
 "IT IS OBVIOUS that, if a democracy is to work, everyone must exercise his right of franchise."
 These are the words of Dean J. O. Grimes on the approaching presidential election.

Patterned after the radio program "Town Hall," a program featuring prominent speakers from the Republican, Democratic and Progressive parties will present the views of the party which they represent will be held in the auditorium from 4-6 p.m. Monday afternoon. Following talks by the three, the meeting will be open for discussion.

Other programs of the simulated "Town Hall" will follow.

These words were never more true than they are at the present time. We have just recently finished the most terrible war in the history of mankind and feelings of fear and uncertainty have hampered our attempts to establish a lasting peace.

Will we continue to bungle, or will we wake up and show the other countries of the road to Peace?

The answer to this question lies in the hands of the American public. Those persons who are eligible to vote will decide who will lead us in the coming crucial years.

It is estimated that approximately 1800 students at Arizona State college are eligible to vote, but statistics indicate only 40 per cent of them will perform their duty November 3. We college students more than any others should realize the importance of electing competent men to rule our country.

Out of state students may vote in their own states by writing to their respective states and obtaining absentee Ballots. Residents of Arizona must be registered here to be eligible to vote.

So bear in mind that not only is it an honor and a privilege to be able to cast a vote, but it is also one of our most sacred duties. Whether or not you cast a vote for the right man, VOTE!

The Way We Look At It

BY THE EDITOR

ARIZONA STATE college students are little different from students on any other college campus in the United States. There are those who are just coming along for the ride, those who really desire an education, and then there are those who are attending college to exhibit their own intelligence and sophistication.

These latter individuals know all the answers. They do, occasionally, seek something from college in the way of an education, but nine times out of ten this something they seek is that which they already have pictured in their minds; in other words, they have already decided what they will find. They seek "to learn" with closed minds.

Of course, we believe only a minority has this approach to college life and a college education. But the germ of this "search" for learning is one very easily contacted. The symptoms are non-objective criticism, the superior attitude, and the feeling that certain individuals, because of their lower standing in the community, are not worth knowing.

Many times those of us who laugh at the ignorance of others indicate our own lack of intelligence.

HERE WE GO AGAIN DEPARTMENT:

Two weeks ago, the State Press printed an editorial in which students were requested to keep off the grass while the winter seeds were given a chance to do their collective stuff. It seems we have to go to bat once again for the down-trodden—and we mean that literally.

Groundkeeper Bov Svob, who does such a swell job keeping the campus the best groomed of any college—or university—in the state, has made a logical gripe concerning the carelessness of students in depositing their size 12s and various portions of their anatomy upon the fledgling grass. What d'ya say, ladies and gentlemen? Let's give both the grass and the groundkeeper a break!

Faculty Club Invitation Extended To All Employees

All persons employed by the college in full-time capacities are invited to join the newly organized faculty club at Arizona State, according to Robert Menke, secretary of the club. Menke emphasized membership will not be limited to faculty members.

The next meeting is slated for the first Wednesday in November.

Psych Club Hears Physician Speak

Dr. Keith J. Perkins, director of the Phoenix Mental Health Center, located at Phoenix college, spoke on the recently initiated Arizona mental health program to 50 members and guests of the Psychology Club of Arizona State college at the home of Dr. and Mrs. H. C. Skinner, head of the Arizona State Psychology department, last Thursday evening.

Dr. Perkins discussed the 1946 National Mental Health Act and outlined its threefold Arizona program to increase the state's trained mental health personnel, develop scientific research in causes of mental ill-health, and allocate federal aid grants to the Arizona-mental health program.

New Psychology Club officers elected at the meeting for the coming semester are Bernard E. Lossing, president; Charles C. Gale, vice president; Margaret Underhill, secretary; and Morris Salob, treasurer.

THESE RESIDENTS OF East Hall's temporary porch dormitory seem to be doing all right, despite the crowded, makeshift surroundings in which they live. To pass the time, the freshmen shown here play cards and study with apparent ease.

Civil Service Exam Information Disclosed

Examinations for student dietitians, cameramen, and platemakers (Offset Duplication Process) were announced today by the U. S. Civil Service commission. No written test is required for either examination.

Persons interested may obtain information about these examinations as well as application forms, from the Commission's local secretary, Mrs. C. R. Daugherty, at the post office Tempe, Arizona. Applications should be received in the U. S. Civil Service commission, Washington, D. C., not later than November 9, 1948.

Officials Attend Meeting

Dean of Instruction Dr. H. D. Richardson and Dr. J. O. Grimes, dean of the college, will attend a meeting of the Inter-institution committee at the University of Arizona in Tucson tomorrow. The committee will discuss a works program.

Old McDonald Never Saw The Like Of The Food Needed By Dining Hall

By BOB GAY

IF OLD McDONALD had his farm right now and operated only for Arizona State's dining hall the Moo! Moo! Cluck! Cluck! Oink! Oink! and Oh! My achin' back! would raise a din audible all over the adjoining country-side.

Here's a fair picture of how busy the old boy would be in an average 30-day month keeping the college's 3,450 erg-expanders able to trot to and from class.

About 10 steers and 20 "haws," anyway 11 tons of beef and pork would have to move out the gate by the 30th, and there would have to be 150 cows within reach around milking time to furnish the 450-gallon daily quota of milk.

That big building over there? That's the hen house. Mac has to keep 54,000 birds. One hen lays one egg each day and the need is for 150 dozen a day. That almost equals the combined Hope-Skelton output.

Although you never hear about it in the song, for obvious reasons, McDonald has a fish pond, too. Each month he'd have to haul in either one big "lunker" or a mess of one "pounders" just to furnish a total of 1,200 pounds for the period. Fish is served once each week at the dining hall.

When the chores are done old McDonald has to rush right out to his grain fields to keep that monthly 1,000 pounds of cereals and bread coming, then tote the harrow over to the truck gardens so Mrs. Mac can can what she can and freeze what she can't of the required 15 tons of miscellaneous vegetables. Potatoes must be dug at the rate of five tons per month, carrots at two tons, and lettuce cut at one and one-half tons.

Mac probably would have a little trouble with coffee and sugar, but nevertheless he would have to come up with 300 pounds of java each month and 1,500 pounds of sweetening.

A Woman's View

By CHARLOTTE ERICKSON.

PERFUMED ADVERTISING as used in the Arizona Times Thursday, October 21, is an innovation which may prove to be interesting. I can see newspapers of the future with pine-scented Christmas issues; drug-store advertisements with real chocolate flavored milk shakes; Stork-Shop ads emanating the odor of a particular brand of baby powder sold there. There's no limit to the possibilities, although the expense encountered may prove to hold up the progress.

Whether or not this practice would detract from the news value of the paper remains to be determined. As one reader of Thursday's Times was heard to say:

"It's a little hard to concentrate on reading the news with the aura of that perfume attracting one's attention."

THE OPINIONS QUOTED this week on the topic: "What do you think of the social activities conducted upon our campus?" aroused such a controversy in the State Press office that it seems only right these dissenting opinions should be considered also.

Many of the students quoted in the "What Do You Think?" column offered no really constructive criticism, but merely some general complaints with no concrete basis. We can't help but wonder if it is the quality of the entertainment that fails, or the enthusiasm of the particular student himself.

The difference in whether or not you have a good time at a dance is obviously up to the individual. However, if a student feels he has some definite idea upon how to improve these affairs, Pat Dalton, social chairman, would be very glad to talk it over, and, if possible, put it to use.

Pat can be found in the Associated Students' office on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday from 9 to 10 a. m. and from 1 to 2 p. m. on Tuesday, and Thursday from 1 to 4 p. m.

The opinion of Ralph Peckovich that "More cooperation at dances from the students could be desired," was discussed at length by some of the staff members (male), and the unanimous conclusion was reached that this is all the girls' fault.

According to another, "Some girls will argue you to the wall about whatever you happen to talk about. A guy doesn't want to date a master-mind. I'll admit a lot of the girls are smarter than we are, but they don't have to rub it in—and especially in public."

Editor's Mail

In last week's issue of the State Press, you had an editorial labeled, Cheer Leaders Need Cooperation. Let me express the views of several student supporters who were with me at the game in which State so ably defeated Flag. That editorial you ran last week should have been titled: Cheerleaders Needed.

The cheerleaders are appointed to conduct student cheering. At the game Saturday night, they did not conduct student cheering. The conducting was left up to a few students sitting in the upper section of the Pep Club. To remark, they did a darn good job of it.

It is not their duty (the cheerleaders) to throw ridicule and sarcasm at the students, but it is their duty to get the utmost in the way of cheers out of them. No one likes to be ridiculed or be the object of sarcasm, let's get Gene Ram and the cheerleaders on the ball, or let's get some new cheerleaders. My vote goes to Jim Sexton.

Disrespectfully yours, Lee Martin

Taking A Chance

Under the spreading Maroon and Gold the Tempe student stands,

A parley card in his palm, a pencil in his hand;

He scribbles here, he scratches there;

He wonders for a bit: "Should I put my last half buck on the lowly Pitt?"

"Or should I back the Army, with its power and its fame, And take a chance of losing to the mighty Notre Dame?"

Ah, yes, a problem for one to be discreet,

For many a man has lost his shirt "to the bookie down the street."

H.M.S.

The general trend of the whole conversation boiled down to this: We girls are supposed to engineer the cooperation spoken of above. When I timidly ventured to ask these fellows just what has happened to the concept that man is supposed to be the aggressor, I was shouted down by reason of the fact that the male population on this campus is for the most part broke, or at least badly bent.

IT SEEMS THEN, that to satisfy the pattern, the girls must:

1. Swoon to gain the acquaintance of said gentlemen.

2. Having swooned, we must be intelligent enough to keep up with their conversation—but never, never get ahead of them.

3. Always keep in mind that he has little, if any, dinero.

What Do You Think? Bridge Players Have Intricate 'Systems'..

By WILLIAM JAMES.

IN BRIDGE, as in various other indoor sports, one of the first and most essential considerations is the choosing of a partner. In so doing, close attention should be given to physical characteristics as well as actual bridge-playing ability. For instance, it is desirable that your partner have long arms or legs for under-the-table work. Extreme ugliness or beauty is often helpful also; the former for the demoralizing your opponent; the latter for diverting his attention from the business at hand.

Bidding is undoubtedly the most important phase of the game, and must therefore be handled with the utmost caution. If possible, tactfully indicate the complete state of your hand to your partner before the bidding begins. This may be accomplished either by leering sympathetically at your opponents and exclaiming joyfully as you arrange your hand, or by throwing your cards angrily across the room.

IN ACTUAL BIDDING, show your length and strength to your partner immediately. This may be done by talking to yourself, such as: "Hmmm, length before strength . . . better mention my diamonds before spades . . . really a shame . . . certainly can't bother with those clubs . . ." etc. Another commendable device is to count your honors aloud.

Honor count is your second consideration in bidding. You should not bid with less than two and one-half honors; but if your hand shows promise or a view of your opponent's hand is encouraging, you may indicate that your hand is weak by introducing the bid with, "This is strictly illegal, but . . ."

If you are reasonably sure your partner is bidding Blackwood, and you have at least the jack and two other cards in his suit, jump your partner to five. This will offer him encouragement, and, anyway, it is he who will play it.

We may now direct our attention to the playing of the hand, a comparatively simple operation. The object is to take as many tricks as possible. This may be accomplished by trumping, renegeing, or finessing, and saving your high cards until a later moment when they may be of greater use.

Here are some pointers for the lad who is trying to make the bid:

1. Don't bother to take out trump. It will come out by itself and you won't have to waste yours.

2. If a view of your hand and your opponent's assures you that the risk isn't too great, finesse.

3. Always remember that the dummy is on your side and can be of invaluable assistance in many little ways. The dummy should remember this also, and under no circumstances forget his responsibility to you. Bear in mind the fact that he got you into this.

Putting the dummy in charge of the phonograph is an astute bit of strategy. There he may play his favorite recordings such as Be Careful, It's My Heart, Trump-et Blues, or Gotta Be This or That (preferably with gestures). This also gives your opponents a sporting chance as they may call out requests, or occasionally wrap a Guy Lombardi around your collarbone.

Della Blatant Ponders Problem

GREETINGS, STUDENTS, it's your campus social relations expert, Della Blatant, here to help you flustered fellas and cowed coeds solve your campus social problems. From her vast wealth of experience and knowledge, little ol' Della will advise you chicks and chucks on how to cope with your individual social difficulties. Our first letter presents an interesting problem.

DEAR DELLA, I'm perplexed. I'm a new freshman coed on campus. My Daddy, who owns three cattle ranches and two copper mines, gave me a 1948 Cadillac to take to college cause he just couldn't bear to think of me walking all the way to the dining hall. Last week I met the most divine man—a junior with shoulders. He asked me for a date, and gee, he was so sweet, he even said we could use my car. But then last night he called up to say that he had a very bad cold and that to keep me from catching it we had better not go out together. He came over, got the Cadillac, and went to the movies by himself.

But, gosh, now I wonder if it was the right thing to do, cause when I walked down to the Casa Vieja to make a phone call, he was sitting at the bar with the most horrid old peroxide blonde drinking Moscow Donkeys. He said that he was trying to kill his cold germs with alcohol and that the blonde with him was his nurse. But, gee, while walking back to West Hall I happened to remember Mr. Stahnke saying in his Biological Science class that alcohol won't really cure colds. Do you think that I ought to tell my boy friend that it doesn't?

Signed, PERPLEXED.

P. S.:—He's so considerate—he told me that my Cadillac is out on the Mesa Highway out of gas and that I can go get it any time at all.

DEAR PERPLEXED:

You certainly are faced with a dilemma. After many hours of avid consideration of the situation, my advice to you is to have your Daddy sell a couple of his copper mines and send you three new Cadillacs, two gallons of Tabu, and a carton of vitamin pills. Space the Cads appropriately about the campus and hope for a better catch this time, gargle twice daily with the Tabu, and give your sickly boy friend the vitamin pills.

As for Dr. Stahnke's statement that alcohol doesn't kill the cold—well, it's always kept the chill off me in the past.

And furthermore, honey, the "horrid old" nurse you saw with your boy friend didn't have peroxide hair. It just gets so blonde because I spend so much time out in the sun. And, listen, sister, you wouldn't look so good yourself if you'd just been pushing a '48 Cadillac that had run out of gas for two miles to get to the Mesa Highway.

DELLA.

Russian Literature Topic Of Lecture At College Language Club Meeting

Guest speaker at the last meeting of the Russian Circle was Mrs. Rosa Dembo, professor of foreign languages, who spoke briefly on Russian literature and its contribution to the world.

Mrs. Dembo dwelt on the 19th Century literature and explained its meaning as one hidden mostly in philosophy and realism. She added that the drama played an important role on influencing the life of the Russian people, especially during the time of Catherine The Great.

Numerous authors were discussed, foremost of whom was Dostoevsky, who is rated by Mrs. Dembo next to Shakespeare in his influence on world literature. Other authors discussed were Chekhov, Puskin, Tolstoy, Gogol, Fonvisin, and Briboyedov.

Mrs. Dembo came to Arizona this fall from extensive studies in eastern colleges. She is a native of Eastern Europe and has traveled widely throughout the continent, including Russia. She states she will be glad to assist any student interested in the Russian literature in locating and selecting translations.

Eli Wucinich, president, announced the next meeting of the club will be Nov. 2, 6:45 p.m. in Room 310, Old Main. All faculty and students are welcome to attend.

Frosh Pair Write Weekly KARV Show

ARIZONA STATE'S Sun Devils, Texas Mines, and Texas Tech remain the undefeated elevens in the 1948 Border conference race. The two Texas schools are tied for first place by virtue of two victories each, while the Devils fall next in line with one win and no losses.

Two Border contests were played over the week-end. Tech's Red Raiders knocked the University of Arizona out of the list of unbeaten conference teams, 31-0, and the Miners handed New Mexico "U" its second league loss in as many Saturdays.

In inter-sectional games, the Lumberjacks of Flagstaff upset Redlands and West Texas was stopped by East Texas. New Mexico Aggies, Tempe and Hardin-Simmons were idle last Saturday. Two teams put their undefeated Border records on the block. This week as the Demons tangle with Arizona and Texas Mines meets Hardin-Simmons. These games should prove to be two of the closest contests of the season.

Non-league play finds: Texas Tech facing Rice, Flagstaff traveling to Western Colorado State, West Texas playing Houston, New Mexico taking on Fresno State, 14-13 loser to Pepperdine, and New Mexico Aggies meeting Highlands.

New Mexico Aggies	0	2	0	.000

TOMORROW NIGHT, the Sun Devils face the University of Arizona at Tucson in a game that will draw the largest crowd that has ever witnessed a college football game in the state. Seventeen thousand, five hundred fans will jam the University's stadium for a contest that should be a thriller from the opening whistle until the final gun.

COACH ED DOHERTY has four quarterbacks ready to go for the struggle: Charlie Beall, who will be in uniform for the first time this season; Sid Glenn, Cecil Coeman, and Bill Saunders. This is the first time this year that Doherty's signal-calling staff has been at full strength. Along with these four, the Devil mentor has a flock of fleet-footed backs to throw at the Wildcats.

Bill Quinn's line charges will be out to stop the best the University has to offer, and to rip wide holes in their line to let the Demon backs break away.

Frosh Distancemen Score Over Varsity

Ben Jewel of the freshman cross country squad nosed out his teammates and the varsity aspirants to break the tape first in a frosh-versus-varsity candidate cross-country meet.

Held Monday afternoon at Pajago Park, the meet was won by the un Imps by a 25 to 12 score. The distance event is scored differently from a regular track event, in that the first placer receives one point, second man receives two, and the third, three.

This is the way they finished: (1)—Jewel (F); (2)—Arthur Sieras (F); (3)—Bill Watson (V); (4)—Wayne Randall (F); (5)—Fred Olsson (V); (6)—Jim Gallagher (F); (7)—Bill Neubrand (F); (8)—Jim Gage (V); and (9)—John Paul (V).

Coach Donn Kinzle was fairly well satisfied with the runners' performances over the three-mile distance, even with that of Paul, who has been sidelined with a bad foot for some time.

Berths on the cross country squad and the track team are still wide open, Kinzle says, and anyone wishing to try out should report to him or one of the assistant coaches on the practice field at 3:30 p.m. during the week.

Sun Imps Triumph 19-13 Over Rival Wildkitten Eleven In Game Here

ON PAPER, and according to those who witnessed last Friday night's display of future Arizona State grid power as the Sun Imps defeated the University Wildkittens 19-13, the Blue and Red will have to come up with a number of surprises if it expects to maintain victory form the next three years when it meets the Sun Devils in varsity play.

The score stood safely at 19-0 well into the third period of play, giving Coach Bill Kajikawa an opportunity to insert reserves and to view practically his whole squad in competitive action.

During the first half of the game in particular, the Sun Impy line time after time broke through to either down or rush Kitten passers in their attempts to overcome the college's substantial first-half lead.

The decisive TD came on a pass from Orman Reed to Ken Coen on the last play of the second period.

Reed, formerly a standout on the Casa Grande High team, also got off one of the longest punts ever witnessed in Goodwin stadium. Standing behind his own goal-line, he booted the ball well over the head of the Kittens' safety man, the spheroid going out of bounds on the U's 36-yard line.

Another former Casa Grande athlete, Duane Morrison, stood out both defensively and offensively. The husky back came through with a timely pass interception, in addition to going across the goal line with the first important Imp score.

Rounding out Casa Grande's sterling representation, swift-moving Marvin Wahlin displayed fine form from his left halfback position.

Kajikawa heaped praise on the play of his entire line throughout the game, especially citing Tackle Ed Czaplak, Niagara Falls, N. Y., and Dominick Patrone, left guard, from Niles, Ohio.

Wednesday, October 27, marked the opening of the intramural tennis tourney.

Varsity basketball practice got under way this week with over 30 hopefuls working out under the supervision of Assistant Coach Tony Bustamerte.

The first week or two of practice will be taken up with fundamentals of the game and getting the candidates in condition. Not much attention will be given to personal help until Coach Bill Kajikawa concludes his football duties.

Throat specialists report on

CAMEL MILDNESS

30-Day test of hundreds of Camel smokers revealed
NO THROAT IRRITATION DUE TO SMOKING CAMELS!

{Not a single case!}

From coast to coast, the reports were the same: Not one single case of throat irritation due to smoking Camels!

These reports were based on a total of 2470 examinations by noted throat specialists of the throats of hundreds of men and women who smoked Camels—and only Camels—for 30 consecutive days.

And these men and women smoked on the average of one to two packages of Camels a day! Yes, Camels are that mild! But prove it for yourself. In your own "T-Zone"—T for Taste and T for Throat. Smoke Camels—and only Camels—for 30 days. Let YOUR OWN TASTE tell you about the full, rich flavor of Camel's choice, properly aged tobaccos. And let YOUR OWN THROAT tell you about that marvelously cool Camel mildness!

Prove it Yourself!
Make the Camel 30-Day Test in Your "T-Zone"

Money-Back Guarantee: Make the 30-day Camel test yourself. If, at any time during these 30 days, you are not convinced that Camels are the mildest cigarette you have ever smoked, return the package with the unused Camels and we will refund your full purchase price, plus postage. This offer is good for 90 days from this date.

Staters Are Out To Revenge Last Year's 26-13 Defeat By The "U"

Arizona State would rather forget.) Word sent out from the 'Cats lair would lead anyone to think that Arizona State couldn't be stopped, and that the Devils would run rings around Arizona. This psychological campaign emanating from the U of A is being looked on as very impressive, but it is a fairly well known fact that a good deal of the information is unfounded. Also, the Wildcats are invariably 50 per cent better on their home field.

To pick the winner in this traditional grid rivalry would be a difficult task. However the Sun Devil fans throughout the Valley of the Sun are still maintaining that the Devils will emerge from tomorrow night's contest victorious.

To back up their sentiments, a throng of almost 5,000 Maroon and Gold fans will make the trek to Tucson to give moral support to the Demons.

COACH DOHERTY will use a unique manner in selecting his starting lineup for tomorrow's tussle, leaving this selection to the Devil lettermen. There will be three exceptions, however, Dave Mediovich, end; Wendell "Pat" Patterson, tackle; and Garner Barnett, halfback.

These exceptions were made because this will probably be the last time these three men will take the field against the Wildcats. Mediovich and Patterson are seniors, and, although Barnett is listed as a junior, he may quit the gridiron at the end of the season.

The Benchwarmer

By VIC NIELSEN.
THIS IS IT—the big week-end. The week of the game everyone has waited for since 1946, when the Wildcats of Arizona U trounced the Sun Devils 67 to 0. The excitement and speculation currently running rampant on campus is typical of the Big Game; it has its counterpart on every campus in the nation, a sort of mob exhilaration.

But behind the scenes in the football team managers' departments, things are different. They have no time for speculation and excitement, only preparation for the game interests them. And they have a big job.

Ordinarily their duties consist of having clean equipment for the players, shoulder pads, hip pads, helmets, pants, jerseys, and the rest. Dom Cosentino and Wilbur Koski, head managers, are like army quartermasters with a personal touch. Not only do they prepare the whole team's equipment for an invasion into enemy territory, but they attend to each player's individual needs and personalities. One of the biggest jobs, however, is to squelch any feelings of over-confidence and cockiness the boys might have pertaining to a game.

But it's different this time. This time, despite the prevailing campus attitude of almost wild speculation, the boys realize this is the toughest game for them on the schedule. Cosentino quotes one of the first stringers as saying:

"Lots of people think the Sun Devils have this game all wrapped up because of the U's poor showing against Texas Tech last Saturday. But they don't realize that the biggest crime the U could

Views Of Coaches And Referees Aired

Arizona State students finally have a legitimate chance to rake the football officials over the coals after a home game. Radio station KPHO in Phoenix is broadcasting an Officials' Round table program at 10 p. m., Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday nights.

Monday is the evening for the officials who worked the local games on the preceding weekend to explain to the audience their reasons for calling certain plays the way they did. If you object to having a touchdown called back, write your query to The Officials' Round Table, KPHO, in care of the Adams Hotel, Phoenix.

On Tuesdays the program will present coaches from surrounding territories who plan to review the week-end games.

The Sun Angels will second the coaches on the Thursday night presentation while they attempt to preview and predict games coming up on Friday and Saturday. Sun Devil Mentor Ed Doherty is expected to be a frequent guest on these programs given by KPHO.

commit would be to lose to Tempe. The 'Cats are bound to be playing over their heads."

Strung up all over the locker rooms are signs designed to keep the boys' minds on the game at all times. One in particular says: "67 to 0 in 1946. Remember How They Poured It On Us!"

The idea of the propaganda is designed to keep cockiness down to a minimum, and it's working, as witnessed by the attitude displayed by the players.

This plan is being suggested to insure that each car will be decorated during the parade and rally, which will follow the depot rendezvous. Dalton says that cold water paint is windproof and washable and therefore may be applied to cars before leaving the campus at Tempe.

The parade will begin at the Union depot with the uniting of forces of private cars, Sun Angels, Alumni, busses and the college band, to stream fourth in a flood of Maroon and Gold through downtown Tucson.

The largest increase in enrollment is in the German classes, with over 50 per cent more students than last year. All classes show slight increases except French, which is about average.

VISITING THE CAMPUS last week were these four prominent Arizonans, Sidney B. Moour, president of the Alumni association; Carl Hayden, U. S. senator; Hugh Gruwell, president of the Valley National bank, and John R. Murdock, congressman from Tempe. The four were guests of the college.
