King Manuel, Queen Betty Will Reign

Royal Couple Will Enter Hectic Round Of Events

King Manuel and Queen Betty, campus royalty for Homecoming 1948, are personable Betty Ciochetti, a blue eyed brunette Zeta Sigma from Globe, Arizona, and stalwart Manuel Muniz from Costa Mesa, Calif.

Betty Ciochetti, campus choice for Queen, winning in a hotly contested run-off election is a senior who has been a top flight Sun Fury at Arizona State. She was a Cheerleader during '45-'46, rated "Who's Who in Colleges in America" latest edition, and is now Inter-Sorority Council chairman of the college.

Manuel Muniz, Tau Sigma and Letterman's Club, is a Junior and a football luminary with two varsity letters and a line play record that bids fair to place him high in Conference honors. He is 24 years old, married and has two little Munizes, ages 2 and 4.

The royal couple will enter a hectic round of ceremonies, dedications and festivities when Homecoming days start to roll.

Coronation Ball To Feature Royalty

Two of the finest of all student dances for the fall semester are planned for the Homecoming week celebration, according to Pat Dalton, vice president of the Associated students and chairman of the social committee.

The first large dance is the coronation ball in honor of the honorary King and Queen for the Homecoming celebration. King Manuel Muniz and Queen Betty Ciochetti will be crowned in a ceremony built around the general theme of Homecoming, "Greater Arizona". The Alumni association are invited to attend the coronation ceremonies.

The second big dance will be the victory dance after the football game, which all the guests of the students and the school are invited to attend. Special guests at this dance will also include Artie Wayne, popular modern singer who has appeared on such programs as the Hit Parade; Harold Spina, the composer of a new school song, "My Arizona", which is scheduled to be introduced to the students at the half time of the football game; the Ernie Felice quartet and the ever famous Pied Pipers.

Members of the social committee who are assigned to making the necessary arrangements are Joan Hansen, Vivian Dickenson, Mary Beth Mason, Roy Langdon, Gil Wang, John Neal, Jim Beaman and Pat Dalton. Other members working on publicity are Bob Gaye, Al Zelenak and Barney Shimonowsky.

Gold Cup To Be Awarded Alumnus

During their Monday night meeting, the Alumni board, inaugurated a new Homecoming feature—presentation of an Alumni Service Award to the graduate or former student who has given most extensive service to the Association and the College. It will be a gold cup, engraved, and will be presented between halves of the Homecoming football game. The special committee of the Alumni Board is meeting next week to prepare a list of candidates from which one will be chosen this year, and the list will be added to each year as more candidates for the Service Award are found. The name of the Award winner will not be announced until the presentation ceremony is made.

Whiskerinos To Get Limelight At Dance

Bewhiskered gentlemen of Arizona State college will come into the spotlight Friday, December 3, during the Homecoming dance in the Activity building.

Terminating the five week beard-growing contest will be the Annual Whiskerino contest judging, highlighting the intermission of the dance. George Sessions, Homecoming chairman, stated all men who have beards are eligible to enter and will receive recognition.

Prizes will be similar to the

Helios Continues Campus Ace Hunt

"Who is the Campus Ace?" This question has become the byword of a new and original type of search. Instigated by the staff of Helios, Arizona State college literary magazine, the quest is the result of an attempt to stem the tide of kings and queens that has swept over the entire nation.

Rebelling against the idea of electing royalty to reign over every celebration, athletic event and manufactured product in the country, the staff of Helios, under the direction of editor Larry B. Marton, has decided to turn the spotlight on some student who has never achieved recognition of any sort. This individual will receive the mantle of Campus Ace along with all privileges due an Honorary Non-Entity. In addition, he will be the guest of honor at a dinner given by Personalities Anonymous, an organization in which all Helios personnel are charter members.

The qualifications for Campus Ace are, according to Marton, nondescriptness, a slightly less than average amount of popularity, and an absence of those features which generally contribute toward winning contests—good looks, good luck, and good personality.

In addition, all prospective title-holders must be unaware of their participation in the quest. To facilitate this, the November issue of Helios requests that all interested students submit letters to the magazine advocating the virtues and vices of their favorites. In any event, letters must not concern the writers themselves. When a suitable candidate is found, the individual or ones awarded last year and will go to the men judged to have the most romantic, most pathetic, most unique, most distinctive, most authentic, and longest beards.

The Whiskerino contest has long been a tradition on the campus since it was started in 1911. The judges are usually selected from the women organizations and sororities. Chi Sigma sorority had the honor of being the judges last year and the affair this year will be judged by members of the Kappa Kappa Alpha sorority.

California Alumni Adopt New Charter

The California Chapter of the Alumni Association held a reunion luncheon in Los Angeles the 13th of November with 50 members present, and had as their guests the Sun Devils and Coach Ed Doherty, plus 18 members of the Pi Deltis, who were in L. A. for their installation into Sigma Delta Phi.

The entertainment was provided by Steve Allen, ex '45, star Columbia Broadcasting System. He displayed the style of humor for which he is noted on "Breaking All Records" and "Steve Allen's Party Line."

Float Parade Will Begin In Phoenix

"Greater Arizona" will be the theme for the 1948 Homecoming parade with route of march through both metropolitan Phoenix and Tempe.

Floats in the pageant will represent such subjects as Arizona's history, industries, present projects, and the college program of expansion.

John Pole, Associated Men Students president, and chairman of the parade committee, in announcing rules for the float contest, prophesies, "With no expense limitation imposed this year, the parade will be one of the most colorful and comprehensive in Homecoming history."

Guests of honor who are expected to ride in the procession will be Governor of Arizona, Dan E. Garvey, Grady Gammage, president of Arizona State College at Tempe, Sidney B. Moeur, Alumni president, Mayor Hugh Laird of Tempe, Mayor Nicholas Udall of Phoenix, Mesa's Mayor

National Fraternity Approved For ASC

A chapter of Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, was approved last Friday for Arizona State College at Tempe, with chartering tentatively slated at a formal installation ceremony late next month.

Temporary officers of the fraternity for present and one time Boy Scouts and scouting leaders, the first ever established in Arizona, are Preston Martin, president, and Sidney Galusha, secretary.

Chosen as faculty representatives were Gerald R. Fuller, Martin Mortensen, Dr. Paul T. Miller, Dr. B. Ira Judd and Dr. Hugh Hanson.

Colorful Parade Will Highlight Activities

With only two weeks left for student planning, it appears that the sixty-fourth annual Homecoming celebration, Saturday, December 4, built around a "Greater Arizona" theme, will be the biggest and most elaborate affair of this kind in the history of Arizona State.

THIS YEAR'S celebration will honor the classes of 1898, 1908, 1918, 1d28, and 1938. Special

Donations Accepted At Business Office

All students wishing to contribute to the fund for Herbie Shenkin, Tempe's blue baby, may do so by contacting Mrs. Ruth Rhoton, cashier at the Business Office.

The three-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shenkin will undergo a delicate heart operation at the Children's Hospital in Los Angeles. The child's father, Robert Shenkin, is a Purple Heart veteran, enrolled at Arizona State college.

Tempe residents hearing of the baby's plight, and aware of the costly nature of the trip, hospitalization, and surgery, have started a fund to assist the young couple.

Wetherby Inspects College ROTC Unit

Arizona State College's ROTC unit received its first military inspection by Colonel H. Wetherby, representing General Leroy H. Watson, commanding officer of the Southern Military District, early Wednesday afternoon.

The Colonel inspected all military installations and properties on campus after holding an early morning conference with Dr. Grady Gammage, at the college president's home.

After the inspection, Colonel Wetherby declared that the ROTC unit here was the start of a "crackerjack outfit," and should continue to expand. A full report containing his findings will be sent to the SMD headquarters in Los Angeles.

Special guests, besides the alumni, will be the Board of Regents who will be present on campus to discuss the new multi-million dollar building program; Dr. Carl David Anderson, who will be the principal speaker at the dedication ceremonies for the new Science building on Saturday afternoon, after the Homecoming parade through Phoenix and Tempe; and Artie Wayne, Harold Spina, the Pied Pipers, and the Ernie Felice Quartet, will be guests of the Associated Students at the football game and the Victory dance after the game Saturday night.

Many events are being scheduled for the week of Homecoming. The annual Zeta Follies will appear early this year and are set to be presented December 2 and 3, according to Norma Barkley and Barbara Crandall, co-chairmen for the event, and the first annual

An announcement from the Homecoming committee states that on campus during the Homecoming week celebration, the associated students will operate the traditional "Bull-pen". The official garb for the week will be Western dress, past, present and future.

Take talent show, an added feature this year, will be presented December 2, according to Roy Sauve, chairman of the show.

There will be an Associated Women's tea and an Associated Men's smoker in honor of the alumni. According to Jimmy Creasman, alumni secretary, there will be the traditional alumni "get-together" (Continued on Page Eight)

ASC Chapter Holds Pledging Ceremony

The semi-annual pledging ceremony of Kappa Delta Pi was held Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Hazel Quaid in Tempe. A large delegation from the local Beta Phi chapter witnessed the traditional entertainment supplied by the pledges in the form of original skits, poems, songs and educational dissertations.

For the second time since 1930, the year in which Beta Phi was chartered on the Arizona State college campus, men pledges outnumber the women, but cumulative indeces were comparatively similar. Mr. Ira D. Payne, sponsor of the local chapter of the national honorary educational society, stated that in checking the qualifications of the prospective pledges he had observed that the general educational achievement of students on this campus was reaching new heights. One of the requirements for membership in Kappa Delta Pi calls for a cumulative index of .270 which had heretofore ranked higher than the dividing line of the college's upper quartile. This year, however, the upper quartile has skyrocketed to .270.

Sandwiches For Sale Three Cheers

By CHARLES GALE

Chances are that if the demands and appetites of your gastronomical equipment are similar to those of the average Arizona State student on campus—practically insatiable—the cheerful "Whonk" of the Sandwich Man outside the dorm each evening has probably become a familiar and appreciated phenomenon that sets mouths to watering and neglected tummies to tingling with anticipated delight.

What Do You Think?

What do you think of the polls conducted for presidential elections? Should they be continued or discontinued?

CLEM WEBSTER, Phoenix:—Polls for presidential elections should be continued. I think they are accurate most of the time. Polls give the people an idea of what people in other parts of the country are thinking. The polls conducted in this last election were wrong, but the people were at fault more than the polls by not going out and voting.

JEANNETTE HERBERT, Phoenix:—I don't think they are very accurate and should be discontinued. The polls do not give accurate information in regards to political elections. People feel resentful when asked a personal question; such as, how are you going to vote?

JOHN HAMILTON, Maine:—They should definitely be continued. The polls weren't too far wrong, only missing the correct public opinion by a narrow margin. For instance, Mr. Gallup stated that a shift in public opinion would cause a change in results.

FRED BIBER, Phoenix:—"The presidential polls should be continued. Polls are a source for speculation and if they were conducted properly they should show an indication most of the time of true public opinion."

LEIGH PUDLO, Phoenix:—"I think they should be continued. They definitely acquaint the people with their respective candidates."

JACK DOWNS, Allentown, Penn.:—"I think last Tuesday's election sounded the death knell for all pollsters in the U. S. Dr. Gallup and company almost equaled the 1936 debacle, in which Literary Digest was forced to close its doors after its election miscues."

FERN CURRY, Tempe:—"Polls for presidential elections should be continued. People are interested in things to come and, therefore would be interested in public opinion polls."

JIM JOHNSTON, Ann Arbor, Michigan:—"They should definitely be continued. Polls create a lot of interest in the elections and the views of people in different sections of the country. Newspapers would like to have the polls continued because they furnish a source of information prior to the election."

JIM SHACKELFORD, Phoenix:—"Polls should be continued because everyone likes to speculate in future election results. All polls are bound to be wrong occasionally."

Handle Trays Easy Asks Dining Hall

In order to conserve Dining Hall equipment, Miss Genevieve Svarga, dining hall dietician, has requested that students handle the food trays more carefully.

There are an average of six to ten trays broken daily and at this rate the supply will soon be exhausted resulting in a call for a new supply. With the cost of food as it is, all available funds for replacement of equipment will result in cutting down on the amount of food purchases resulting in a direct hardship to the students eating in the dining hall.

Miss Svarga requests cooperation from all the students.

Does anybody have an urge to be one of our rather fruitful crop of crutch-swingers? Well, come along, no one is excluded from our merry band of the wise and the unwise; the proud and the peevish; the righteous and the rueful.

A lot is said about the thoughtless and selfishness of people these days, but we four-leggers can't be convinced. Each day brings a new venture into the field of kindness to us as we go bumping along, but perhaps the most outstanding contribution is made by the ladies of the cafeteria.

There is Mrs. Saylor. She is the lady who, in between mending for her "boys" and "girls" and checking them in and out there in the cafeteria, can be seen everywhere in the room helping tray-laden students find tables. She can most often be seen, however, keeping an eagle eye out for the forlorn individual (we enter the picture again), who looks as if he is in need of an extra pair of arms. Upon spotting one of us, she grabs a table, a tray, asks what we want, fills the tray and then sees to it that we clean it up!

But, if you can't find this busy lady, just say "Jack Robinson" and before you can finish the "n" Mrs. Wright will be there with her genial smile, or Mrs. Fanning, Miss Svarga, or Miss Randolph, and many others.

They are wonderful people, but if you are a little leary of the initiation into our select club and the possible development of in-growing crutchitis, perhaps you can meet them some other way.

I just suggested this one because it is sure-fire. There is no doubt about their being there if you need them. Three cheers for the ladies in the cafeteria (and the fellows; they come in handy, too).

Ain't It Somethin'

"There ain't no such thing as correct English," says Doctor Myers. "However," he added, "there are 'accepted standards'; this means only that there are sizable groups who are in fairly general agreement as to usages."

Ain't used in this sense is grammatically correct, according to some present dictionaries. We use it as a contraction of are-not, used also indiscriminately for am not, is not, has not, and have not.

Ain't came into use in the 18th Century, the same time as won't. It was condemned more vigorously than won't, and has taken longer to be accepted.

Ain't has become more popular in recent years. It is used frequently in our everyday speech. As yet ain't is not being used in professional pages of literature, or in legal passages.

Of course I ain't saying that there ain't a possibility that ain't won't be used by a wider circle of people.

Because after all is said and done, it ain't what you say, and it ain't why you say it, it's how you say it.

"Ain't that is."

began to flip coins as to who should marry the unhappy girl.

However, the boy who had lost his Springfield love decided that he should be the one—and so they were married.

The beautiful part of this story is that this marriage is a happy and successful one today. These young people had the courage and patience to make the adjustments that everyone who has been married knows are necessary for a lasting marriage.

Seeing this handsome couple on the campus of Arizona State College somehow takes some of the cynicism out of life. She is a senior and he is a sophomore, the proud parents of an eight-months-old daughter, they are planning at least three more children.

The group was pretty stinking when they spied the sign of the WEDDING BELL at 30th Avenue in Phoenix, and the boys w

Phi Delt Go National

Over two years ago zealous members of Phi Delta Sigma, local campus fraternity, began to work for nationalization. Now their labors have borne fruit.

On Sunday, November 14, this group, which was organized in 1931, became affiliated with Delta Sigma Phi, a highly rated national social fraternity, and has become the Beta Psi chapter, the second to make such a hook-up on the campus at growing Arizona State college.

Delta Sigma Phi is one of the oldest and strongest fraternities, having been founded December 10, 1889, in New York City. It began as a mutual and cooperative movement of a body of regular students of the City College of New York, Columbia, and New York Universities.

An impressive ceremony and banquet held in Los Angeles highlighted the nationalization activities. Beta Omega of Tucson and Gamma Alpha of San Diego were also initiated with the Beta Psi.

A goodly number of students have made possible this achievement of a long awaited goal and were installed as charter members. Those who worked so hard for this cause deserve a bouquet for this advancement and honor upon them and the college.

The members include: James F. Sexton, president; Thomas A. Shultz, vice president; Edward Rue Rush, secretary; Robert F. McKinley, treasurer; Sidney A. Glenn, historian; Joe F. Cooper, editor; and Frank Komadina, sergeant-at-arms.

Other members are: William E. Dennis, Fred R. Gose, Monte H. Kelly, Robert A. Kortsen, Bennie H. Mann, Jr., Thomas J. McDevitt, Robert D. Neyman, Harry E. Sechow, Arthur C. Turner, James E. Warne, Jr., William A. Weipert, and Jake C. Davis.

Thus, another of the major local fraternities, supplemented with many pledges, has succeeded in accomplishing their highest of aims and have passed the test with flying colors. Congratulations and best wishes for a prosperous future!

Maintenance Crew Runs In Good Form

The present student body at Arizona State college is treating its equipment more wisely than those of the past, according to Fenn Harris, the maintenance "boss" at the college.

Mr. Harris, the head of forty full-time college employees, said the destructive spark in college students seems to occur in queer, irregular cycles. For one or two years windows will scarcely be replaced when a piece will disappear, then the next year practically no windows suffer. He recalls that at one time before the war all the college students snuffed out a large part of the cigarettes they dropped by jerking a fire extinguisher from the nearest wall. It was, apparently, "the" way to put out cigarettes.

At the other extreme, Mr. Harris remembers the soldiers here during the war who, upon vacating a classroom left each chair in exactly the spot in which it was first placed. They seldom so much as dropped a scrap of paper.

Mr. Harris is looking forward with some eagerness to the new equipment that will come with the proposed $5,500,000 building project, upon which he can "start all over."

As a passionate lover of dramatic beauty may I tender a suggestion for the homecoming parade? For something generous golden mum pompons have been symbolic. At our football games this year let's bedeck our parad-ing campus cuties in garlands of golden pompons to add genuine dramatic beauty to our homecoming pageant.

From The President

Homecoming is always a happy occasion but this year more so than usual. This seems to be an unusually significant year in the history of the college. It is unusual for several reasons.

First the college has by far the largest enrollment in its 60 years of existence. The first semester's enrollment is 3656 which means the total regular year enrollment will be about 4000.

Another significant fact is that at long last we are dedicating a new Science building which has long been a critical need.

Still another item of significance is the general feeling that this college has a promising future with a definite mission of service to the state.

The theme of this year's Homecoming is Greater Arizona. That also expresses the spirit of our college. We shall be looking for you to see the college as it is in 1948 and to visualize it as it may become by 1958.

Is This Feasible?

Yes, Arizona State now has the stature, if nothing else, of a big time school. Why? Well, they are now placing athletic events ahead of education!

It is impossible for a science class to go on a field trip. It seems that when the time comes for a science class to leave the campus and receive some actual study with live specimens, either the Maintenance department hasn't got a truck driver, or if they have a driver, they don't have a vehicle. It always seems that either the team or the band has the vehicle reserved.

Now you say why not use private cars. Well the school is not responsible if private vehicles are used.

Recently the administration has stated that on field trips, only main highways may be used and the vehicle can only go within a 50 mile radius of Tempe. A Botany class can not even go to Papago Park to the Desert Botanical Garden for a main highway does not pass through the garden.

If the main highways are used, what benefit can be gained by the class. No wild plant life or animal life may be observed along a main highway.

Strange Justice

By WILLIAM M. JAMES, JR.

Only in the last few months have those august practitioners of law, the legal eagles of the United States, condescended to attempt correcting the dubiously laudable methods of automobile law enforcement personnel in their districts. From the "Friendly State" of Utah to the "Peachy State" of Georgia, curbstone trails and farm-house front porch bond posting are employed under the guise of traffic management. Yet this country style justice is mildly humorous to the big city court customer.

In Chicago the process of appearance in traffic court requires three hours if you are Johnny on the spot with the answers and the president's pictures. It's the red tape that sends you home chewing onions. When the minor's cases come up, all who will stand for it, most of whom are obviously accustomed to the Utah method of "open your wallet and go home," are herded into the Municipal Court Little Theater.

There I sat, in the last row, flanked by a chief of police on the right arm of my chair and a traffic engineer on the left. On some occasions during the ensuing hour I glimpsed parts of a movie, between the chief's fancy white silk scarf and the engineer's shoulder pads. This safety reel I had seen several times at my neighboring theater. It was some minutes longer on the previous showings owing to material concerning cafeteria courts which had been cut for this performance. But visibility being what it was, I didn't miss the extra lineage. After its performance a Disney feature sprayed over an adjacent screen while the proper publicity authorities captured a few unimportant photographs. When this photograph work ceased, immediately the Disney feature was cut off, leaving all there assembled in tense consternation over the possibility of Roundhouse Rabbit's safe arrival in his burrow before the firing of Farmer Froghammer's shotgun. At this point the humiliated guests were reluctantly directed back into the judge's classroom for the distinct pleasure of hearing countless instances of how so-and-so pulled a tonsil remover on an officer of Utah to the "Peachy State" of Georgia, curbstone trails and farm-house front porch bond posting are employed under the guise of traffic management. Yet this country style justice is mildly humorous to the big city court customer.

Now all were asked to gather near the judge's bench for class. The pupils were shown assorted newspaper items and photographs whose shapes suggested that they were ripped from their habitat by an hippopotamus who had chewed tractor lugs for a living; but which were valuable studies in dissection of body and Buick. After a thorough lecture, the class was asked some pertinent questions by professor judge.

"What can we do about juvenile speeders?" he queried. He may as well have asked why purple isn't yellow or what we can do about water for Arizona. Municipalities have studied professor judge's question for years to no avail. But now Jasper Juvenile's tired mother had to think of a feasible answer in 11 seconds in front of 50 strangers! He couldn't have asked: "Would you prohibit Jasper from driving under certain conditions?" or "Would you vote to raise the driving age to 21?" or "Would you pay an extra $100 in taxes next year to construct a safe cloverleaf highway in such and such a danger area?" Instead it's "What can we do about the juvenile speeder?"

Regardless, you won't find my ale diluted over a judge's tea party. Nor will I ascend a soap box to demand a safari to Milorganite, Utah, to reprimand Constable Cash. But when a farmer beckons from his front porch for you to turn around and come back; then arrests you for making a U-turn, that's Dogpatch justice!

Walsh Will Exhibit Art

Margaret Mary Walsh, head resident of North hall and noted authority on Hopi Indian folklore and art, will exhibit her water color pictures and lecture on the Hopi Indians for the Rotary club in Phoenix, Friday, November 19.

Miss Walsh's pictures hang in some of the most exclusive art galleries in the world, including the collections of William Tovar at the Grand Canyon and the Santa Fe museum. Some of her paintings appeared in color in the August, 1945 issue of Arizona Highways Magazine.

Last Christmas one of Miss Walsh's Kachina paintings was chosen as the Arizona gift for President Truman.

In recognition of her work, Anthony and Anthony, noted New York art collectors, presented Miss Walsh with a set of her paintings mounted on matching frames.

Miss Walsh paints in her West hall studio and occasionally offers a college course in the arts of Indian folklore.

An original Walsh water color, pictured above, represents the ancient Hopi Kachina, Ahulana, and shows the two Corn Maidens bringing gifts of seeds for the planting of the crop.

Dean Of Men To Work Out New Plan

Dean Paul Trovillo, student councillor and representative for the men of ASC, is working on a new plan which will harmonize the relationships between the students of our college and its administration.

Most students are not aware of the fact that the dean is in a key position to be of invaluable service to them. His main function is to act as a medium from the students to the administration of this college, but without the support of the students, he can not adequately represent them. It is therefore urged that all members of the Student Body let their problems be known to the Dean of Men, the one person that can do something about them.

Three important functions of the Dean are as follows: The first is to act as a sounding board for student opinion, an intermediary relaying our problems, ideas and needs to the various depart-

Future Teachers

Four students were chosen to assist members of the college faculty in judging Educational Exhibits at the State Fair, Friday, November 5. The judges were Shirley Dryer, Virgie Dryer, Faith Fraizer and Betty Ott.

Five members of the P.T.A. were aired over station KOY in honor of "American Education Week," Saturday, November 13. The subject for discussion was "Why I Chose Teaching." Those were: Elsie Kearney, John Gregory, Marjorie Moser, Charles Reeves and Gene Lewis.

Second, the Dean acts as a counsel on personal problems. He helps the student to help himself. He is a friend, not a disciplinary figure. Third, he helps prevent the culmination of a problem by meeting it before it arises.

By following these policies, and by the cooperation of the students, we can organize better relationships between students and administrative heads.

Dean Sayre New Prexy Of Arizona Association

Dean Sayre, at the recent annual meeting of the Arizona Deans and Advisers to girls and women, was re-elected state president of the Arizona Association. In her two years of office as president, in the words of a Tucson member, the State Association "has come alive." The Association has received national recognition for its projects in the area of personnel and counselling.

At present it is completing copy for a Handbook for High School Advisers. This project is viewed with interest by personnel and educational associations. Only one other state has undertaken such a publication.

Dean Sayre has also recently received appointment to the Southwest Regional committee of the American College Personnel Association, of which she is a member.

New Visual Aids Catalog Due Soon

"Coming off the press next week will be a new visual aids catalogue with a list of all the films in our $30,000 film library," said J. A. Benedict. The films will be ready for distribution to schools throughout Central Arizona.

The function of Audio-visual Aids in filming Arizona high school football games is increasing tremendously, according to Mr. Benedict. Five St. Mary's of Phoenix football games and one of Tempe high school besides the Arizona State College games have already been filmed.

Next on the agenda is the Hardin-Simmons game at Abilene tomorrow night.

Sun Imps Crown Season's End With 27-25 Defeat Of Pepperdine Frosh

Arizona State's freshman grid-ers had to come from behind to top the Pepperdine Wavelets, 27 to 25, last Saturday night at Goodwin stadium. The victory gave the Sun Imps a perfect record for the season.

Fireworks began from the minute the two squads stepped on to the field. Tempe took the opening kickoff and marched to the Wavelets' one-yard line, where Marvin Wahlin skirted the right end for the initial marker of the game. The extra point was good, making the score 7 to 0.

Pepperdine retaliated with a 55-yard pass which set up a touchdown for the invaders. Clayton Bieck carried the oval for the score. A few minutes later, the Wavelets seemed to wash away the Imps' chances when they intercepted a Rammy Oquita pass and took the ball into the end zone. The Californians' extra point was good, and they led, 13 to 7.

Duane Morrison and Emery Harper sparked a drive from the Pepperdine greenies' 46-yard line, with Oquita scoring on a quarterback sneak. Wahlin booted the point after touchdown. A few plays later, after an interception of a Wavelet pass, Wahlin scampered off tackle for 75 yards and the Imps' third score. Morrison's kick was good, and the Junior Devils lead, 21 to 13.

Stepping back into the ball game, the Pepperdine eleven rallied to push over two touchdowns and grab the lead, 25 to 21.

The Imps struck back with lightning speed, and in three plays made the last marker of the game. The gun brought the end of a perfect season for the Demons.

The record shows the Sun Imps won five games, lost one, and scored 144 points to their opponents' 57. They opened the season with a 34-to-0 triumph over the Axebabes of Flagstaff, followed by victories over Gila J. C., 25 to 12; Arizona frosh, 19 to 13; Redlands greenies, 39 to 7; and their final win, that over the Pepperdine Wavelets.

Beginners are those who have less than one credit hour of archery and will shoot Junior Columbia Rounds. All others are classed as advanced players and will shoot three Columbia rounds. Virgie Dryer, archery manager, stated that in order to receive points toward sweaters women must

In the semi finals of the beginners tournament results were: Fran Williams defeated Margie Mondo, while Mary Ann Bowman scored over N. Haby. Bowman won from Williams 6-1; 6-4 in the finals.

Semi-finalist in the advanced tournament were: Jo Capono defeated Georgia Appleby, 2-6, 6-4, 6-1, and Marion Wang defeated Audrey Toncray 5-7, 7-5, 6-3. Finals between Capono and Wang, resulted in Capono besting Wang 9-7; 6-3.

With the freshman football team's win over the Pepperdine Wavelets last week, backfield coach Clyde "Ike" Dougherty can have his kelly green sport shirt sent to the cleaners. He claims it is his "lucky" shirt, and wore it during all the frosh games. Maybe ASC has an inspired frosh team, but the shirt was present at such wins as the Arizona University Wildkittens, the Pepperdine outfit (which incidentally defeated the west coast frosh champs), and the Redlands University team. Dougherty calls it luck, but personally, the aggressive spirit of the freshman team had more to do with their undefeated season than the shirt.

And speaking of Pepperdine, they are going to have a whale of a back next year in big Jack Biehead. Although his teammate Bleck scored all the Wavelets TD's, Biehead set them up with long, tricky runs. He stands 6'3" and weighs 225 pounds. With his ability, he's going to be a hard one to stop next year. He can also thread a needle with his long, accurate passes.

As per the Arizona Republic, tomorrow's game with the Hardin-Simmons Waddies will probably end up in a contest between Wilton "Hook" Davis and Tempe's fast-stepping "Whizzer" White. This is approximately the same situation that prevailed last year, but Davis had it all his own way with a lopsided 42 to 0 score in the Cowboys' favor. This year may be different.

In the matter of head football coach Doherty being approached after the Loyola game last week with an offer for him to replace the Loyola coach who resigned, Doherty says that it was merely an unofficial feeler. He was requested to sign an application for the job to make it official, which he flatly refused to do. He told the Loyola man that he is happy here, feels that the team is making progress, and that too many other factors were involved to even answer the request. So what rumors which may have started can be assigned to the wastebasket.

and Ernestine McDonald.

Also entered in intramural competition are five hockey teams who started playing in a round robin tournament last week on the Activity field. Captains on the teams are: Lois Williams, Rita Van de Beulsen, Jean Ricia, Ernestine McDonald and Melba Phillips.

Hardin-Simmons And Sun Devils Clash Tonite

Underdog Sun Devils Invade Home Of Waddies In Hopes Of Conference Win

Attempting to break the jinx Hardin-Simmons apparently holds over them, the Sun Devils invade Abilene, Texas, tomorrow night for a Border conference clash with the Cowboys. The two teams have met six times with H-SU coming out on top in all six games.

The Cowboys are not up to their usual grid standard this year, but are favored to romp over and through the Devils. In conference play H-SU has won 2, lost 1, and tied 1. They have defeated New Mexico university and West Texas, tied Texas Mines, and lost to the University of Arizona.

The Texans are expected to rely on the passing of John Ford to overcome the Demons. Ford has amassed a total of 797 yards through the air in six games this season. In past appearances this season the Tempeans have been unable to halt an aerial attack, and unless Coach Ed Doherty has been able to iron out this weakness Mr. Ford will probably ride hard on the Devils. Should the Waddies' aerial fireworks fail, Coach Warren Woodson will use Wilton "Hook" Davis, sensational sophomore scatback, and Pat Bailey to run State ragged.

Tempe will be pointing for the game to seek revenge for last year's 42-0 trouncing. Doherty will use Wilford "Whizzer" White and Sammy "Semo" Lewis to cope with Davis and Bailey, and Cecil Coleman, quarterback, to match passes with Ford.

As in previous games, this year the Tempeans will be outweighed and outexperienced. According to Al Onofrio, State scout, the Waddies average 231 pounds from tackle to tackle and are fast enough to rush a passer to death. The Hardin-Simmons forward wall is led by Strawberry Rowan, 230 pound tackle who has been selected all-conference tackle the past two seasons, and Bob Chesney, end.

Frosh Basketball Practice
Freshman basketball will officially begin Monday, November 22 and all prospective ball players are urged to report to the Gym at 3:30. All players bring your own equipment and be prepared to practice immediately.

Devils And Cats In Cross Country Clash

Interscholastic rivalry with the University of Arizona resumes this Saturday, November 20, at Tucson, when the Sun Devil cross country team tangles with the Wildcats. Head track coach Donn Kinzle is very dubious as to the Devils' chances of winning, however, because his squad is plagued with injuries and illnesses.

Bill Watson, John Paul, and Jim Gage are sick with influenza, Paul having reported to the infirmary, and Frank Bostock recently turned his ankle. Bostock is now able to run, but his injury prevented him from practicing and working down into condition. Fred Olsson probably is the only man on the team capable of turning in a top performance.

Mr. Kinzle sadly laments that he is not pulling a "Leahy" act with the crying towel, but that his team is really riddled. The outcome greatly depends upon how well his thinclads can steel themselves to such a demanding task as the cross-country run, weak as they are.

However Kinzle has somewhat of a balm for his feelings in that one of his pet projects is in the process of being realized. He has worked for three years on the idea of having a conference championship cross country meet held to determine the Border Conference long distance champs, and a time has finally been set. The University of New Mexico, Texas Mines, the University of Arizona, New Mexico Aggies, the Sun Devils, and Texas Tech will hold the first championship cross country conclave December 4th, at Las Cruces, New Mexico.

Wilford "Whizzer" White, possible candidate for All-American grid honors, is shown above in action during the Loyola game last week at Los Angeles. White was outstanding on offense and defense, drawing praise from many fans. Tonight at Abilene, Texas, he and the rest of the Sun Devils will pit his footwork and speed against the vaunted running of potent Wilton "Hook" Davis, current leading ground gainer for the Hardin-Simmons Cowboys. Davis and White have been compared with each other as the two most skillful backs in the Southwest.

With his weakened team, Kinzle was severely tempted to withdraw his squad, but the Arizona University coach told Kinzle he felt the same way about his outfit. A withdrawal of two teams would wreck all chances of a successful meet, so both coaches decided to run the gamut in the interests of the meet itself.

Practice for the regular track season will begin February 4, with positions still open for any men who wish to report. The schedule is almost completed and will be announced at a later date.

Tennis Matches To Be Rescheduled

It has been reported by several men that, out of the past intramural tennis matches scheduled, a sufficient notice was not received in order to report for play. If there are any men who feel they have been thus inconvenienced, please contact Mrs. Perrino, intramural secretary, before 12:00 noon at the intramural office for a rescheduling of the matches.

It is also requested that schedules, placed on the intramural boards, not be taken down for personal use as it destroys the opportunity for teams and individuals to follow their schedule of play.

Drive carefully, save a life!

Varsity Basketball Team Prepares For Opening

With three weeks of practice, the varsity basketball team is being rapidly whipped into shape by Coach Bill Kajikawa, in readiness for December 1, when they open the season with four West Coast games in as many days.

Frosh football season being over, Coach Kajikawa took over the reins from Tony Bustamente, who acted as coach in the absence of Kajikawa. Bustamente will now turn his attention to coaching the freshman basketball team.

Most of the practice time has been spent on fundamentals and getting the boys into good physical condition, but now a winning combination will try to be worked out and individual ability exploited.

"A" Club Plans Activities

The "A" Club, composed of varsity letter winners in the four major sports, held a meeting last Wednesday evening, November 17, in Old Main. President Wendell Patterson stated the club is working on several projects, one of which is to secure a new club room. Others include a dance after the football season and a float for the Homecoming parade.

Last Friday night at Gilmore Stadium in Los Angeles, the Sun Devils of Arizona State, led by Wilford "Whizzer" White, gave the crowd something to yell about before they were finally downed by Loyola University's massive Lions, 16 to 12.

Neil Ferris opened the evening's scoring, counting for the Lions midway in the first half. A few minutes later, the big coast squad, held for three downs in scoring territory by the Devils, dropped George Whitney back for a field goal, which gave Loyola a 9 to 0 lead at halftime.

The Solar Demons came to life in the third period, sending White on two long runs for touchdowns. White went 51 yards on the first dash, and 59 yards on the second, aided by some fine downfield blocking by his teammates. Both extra points failed, but the Devils had a 12 to 9 advantage.

A pass play, from Paul King to Don Klinkhammer, gave the Lions their final six pointer, and the margin of victory. Ed Dougherty split the uprights on the point after touchdown, giving Loyola their sixteenth point.

A fumble cost the Demons another chance of scoring, after a Cecil Coleman to White pass had set the ball on the Californians' five yard marker.

White and Coleman received praise from both sides of the field. White for his offensive and defensive play, and Coleman for his signal calling and passing.

Embalming was carried on to great perfection by the ancient Egyptians.

Sport Slant

By JIM AGEE.

ALTHOUGH BORDER CONFERENCE FOOTBALL has never received much recognition, during the last three seasons the conference has had the nation's top individual yardage gainer by rushing, and last year, the total yardage leader.

In 1946, Rudy Mobley of Hardin-Simmons held the honor on the ground; in '47, Wilton "Hook" Davis stepped into Mobley's shoes at H-SU and kept the honors—while Firin Fred Enke topped the country with his passing and running.

THIS YEAR IT IS FRED WENDT, the flying fullback of Texas Mines. And although the season has not been completed, Wendt has a total of 1050 yards to his credit, and games with New Mexico Aggies and University of Hawaii to further his yardage. He has definitely placed himself in line for All-American honors as well as those from the Border league.

Along with the Mines' fullback, several other backfield stars in the conference have received national notice. Arizona State's Wilford "Whizzer" White and Hardin-Simmons' Davis are being touted as two of the outstanding sophomore backs in the nation, and Charlie Hall of Arizona and Rudy Krall of New Mexico have been picked as outstanding offensive players in southwest football.

IT LOOKS LIKE TEXAS TECH is in as the conference champions. They have New Mexico U. and Hardin-Simmons to hurdle in the next two Saturdays before they can officially claim the title, but by comparative scores, the boys from Tech should come out on top in both of these contests.

Besides the Tech-New Mexico game in conference play tomorrow, the Sun Devils face Hardin-Simmons with hopes of securing a hold on second place in Border standings and revenging last year's defeat.

Arizona entertains Iowa State in their homecoming fracas, and New Mexico Aggies take on Western State of Colorado in the inter-sectional games this week.

Campus Organizations Are Planning Numerous Activities For Alumni

er." All the Halls will be handsomely decorated around the "Greater Arizona" theme, and they will have open house. George Sessions, campus activities chairman for Homecoming, stated that there would be prizes awarded for the best decorated hall.

The fraternities and sororities will hold parties and get-togethers for the alumni and guests. The Tekes and Delta Sigma Phi, formerly the Mu Sigs and Pi Deltas respectively, plan to take old members into their national organizations and form alumni chapters. Blue Key, national men's honor fraternity will also form an alumni chapter of the old "13" Club members.

The annual "Whiskerino" will be sponsored by women students, according to George Sessions, who says there will be prizes for the different growths and kinds of beards.

According to Pat Dalton, social chairman, the social committee is planning a gala coronation ceremony for the crowning of King Manuel Muniz and Queen Betty Ciochetti as the honorary rulers over the celebrations.

John Pole, parade marshal, reports that applications for floats are coming in, in a steady stream. Besides college halls and organizations, many valley business firms and neighboring Chambers of Commerce are indicating their interest to take part in the parade, which will pass through Phoenix and Tempe. This year's parade will be the largest and most elaborate one the college has ever had.

A first annual Band day will be sponsored by the college instrumental music department, according to Mr. Felix McKernan, Sun Devil Band director. This affair will bring to the Arizona State campus many of the state's outstanding high school bands to participate in the festival. On Saturday afternoon after the parade, the new $600,000 Science building will be dedicated. Dr. Carl David Anderson, one of America's greatest scientists and physicists and Nobel Prize winner, will be the principal speaker. Other prominent scientists and educators from all over the Southwest are scheduled to take part in the ceremonies.

The Sun Devil football team will wind up the season in a clash with the New Mexico University Lobos. The band will present another outstanding performance during the half time. There will also be the traditional lighting of the "A" by the Aristavets, campus Veteran organization.

A new school song, "My Arizona," written by Harold Spina, is scheduled to be introduced to the students at the football game. Harold Spina is the author of "Sleepy Baby" and other popular songs. Mr. Spina plans to be present and will be a guest of the Associated Students.

The Alumni association plans to make a surprise award during the half time at the football game.

USC A Capella Choir To Sing At Arizona State

The A Capella Choir of the University of Southern California under the direction of Dr. Charles C. Hirt will give a concert in the Arizona State college auditorium December 1 at 8 p. m.

The 40-voice choir will present a group of religious works including Hallelujah, Amen, the Russian Lullaby, Bayousky Bayou and several Negro spirituals. The traveling choir is composed of specially chosen students from among its 84 members for their musicianship, mastery of repertoire and scholarship.

College is a place where one may perfect his democratic principles—or lack of them.

Student Police Force Will Begin Sunday

Arizona State college will soon have in operation a student police force, organized and formulated by eight men students now attending the college.

The police force will go into effect November 21 and its function will be protection of the entire campus during the evening and night. Heretofore, the campus has been policed by one night watchman. It is the belief of the students organizing the police force that their assistance will strengthen protection of the campus and lessen the load of our campus watchman.

The police force is not in operation to hamper the activities of the students but rather to protect them.

Further details will be furnished as soon as the force starts operating.

Halftime "A" Lighting By Aristavets Will Honor Dead Heroes

At the half time period of the Sun Devil - Lobo game during Homecoming, the A on Tempe Butte will once more be outlined by torches.

Members of the Aristavets, campus veterans organization, has lighted the A during the half time ceremony the past two years. It has a dual purpose of being a part of the annual Homecoming game and, since the war, is in honor of the service men and women who are not attending some college because they were unable to return from their tour of duty in a foreign country.
