Sun Devils Meet Cats Tomorrow

AS-UA Stress Cooperation For Big Game

To the Associated Students of the University of Arizona and Arizona State:

The student executive officers of the University of Arizona and Arizona State University have arrived at a meeting of the minds.

We have agreed there shall be no vandalism, fighting, depredation or other conduct unbecoming ladies and gentlemen before, during or after tomorrow afternoon's football game between the Wildcats and the Sun Devils.

Not only will the ASU and UofA police forces be present at the game to apprehend anyone who violates this compact, but the Tucson city police, the Pima County sheriff's department and the Arizona State Highway Patrol will be there as well.

The student body officers of the state's two universities have recommended that any violation of this agreement should be dealt with with the utmost severity.

We urge every student, faculty member, alumnus and other partisan of both institutions to respect this compact to the fullest.

Arizona State University wants to be known as a good winner, as it was on the night of November 4, and the UofA wants to be a good host for the annual game.

May the better team win tomorrow, and may the future relations of the University of Arizona and Arizona State University maintain both the greatest possible rivalry and the highest possible mutual respect.

Figuratively speaking, Varsity Stadium tomorrow afternoon will be loaded with dynamite. This is the way it should be. But let's leave the explosions up to the teams.

A great deal of the future of higher education in Arizona from now on will be determined at tomorrow's game . . . Let's make it something to be proud of!

Finance Group To Draw Budget

The ASAS Senate finance committee is now in the process of drawing up the 1959-60 student budget.

The committee requires each student organization supported by Associated Students funds to submit an estimate of anticipated income and expenditure for the next year. Estimates must be reported in person by a representative of the organization.

To qualify for consideration for ASAS funds, organization budget reports must be delivered in the Senate Chamber at 6:30 p.m. either Dec. 2 or Dec. 9.

The Senate sets up and submits to the Board of Financial Control a budget itemizing the breakdown of the activity fee paid at registration.

ASU and the U of A, according to Steve Wagner and Rene Koenig, ASU chairmen of the race.

The ten-lap race is estimated to finish by noon at the Ghost Ranch Lodge in Tucson. Check points are: Mesa; Hamilton's Corner, north of Chandler; Pima Indian Agency, at the Sacaton intersection; Stevens Trading Post, north of Coolidge; La Palma, south of Coolidge; Picacho Store, Picacho; Red Rock; Marana; and Cortaro Store, nine miles north of Tucson.

Representing AS fraternities in the race are: Alpha Tau Omega; Theta Chi; Sigma Phi Epsilon; Phi Sigma Kappa; Del-

AS Is Favorite In Tucson Game

By BOB LAIRSON

Can the passing combination of John Hangartner to Bill Spanko or Karl Kiefer surpass that of the Ralph Hunsaker — Dave Hibbert aerial attack which has placed Hunsaker and Hibbert in the number one positions nationally?

This question will be on the minds of 25,000 football fans tomorrow as they witness the game of the year as far as Arizona football fans are concerned.

The Wildcats of the University of Arizona surprised Texas Western 14-12 last Saturday, to indicate the progress which their team has made since the start of the season. The Wildcats, sporting a 3-6 season record, would count the '58 season successful if they could upset favored Arizona State University in their finale tomorrow.

Hunsaker has completed 92 pass attempts this season to grab the national lead. Most of his completions have been to slotback Dave Hibbert, who has snagged 54 passes to lead the nation in this department. This duo needs no introduction to Valley fans. Hunsaker starred for Mesa High School, while Hibbert played his early football at Phoenix Union and at Phoenix College. He was named to the Junior College All-American team as a quarterback last year.

Many ASU fans feel the Sun Devil passing attack featuring John Hangartner in the sling department and ends Bill Spanko and Karl Kiefer on the receiving end can outshine the UofA duo.

Outside of his highly productive overland duo, Wildcat coach Ed Doherty has nothing else in the way of fearsome threat.

His ground forces, led by Warren Livingston, Minner Williams and Billy Overall, as a group have averaged 92 yards per game.

Coach Frank Kush, meanwhile, has striking power both on land and in the air.

Leon Burton, Joe Belland, Allen Benedict, Joe Drake, Bill Kendrick, et. al., can take care of the land chores, while Hangartner can rack up aerial yardage enough to break the Wildcats' backs.

Texas Western's Coach, Ben Collins, was asked to compare the ASU and UofA teams. His Miners lost to both crews on successive Saturdays.

"There is none," he replied. "Arizona is a better team than Texas Western, but I'm sure they are no match for Arizona State."

A number of tickets for tomorrow's football game in Tucson will go on sale at the ticket office in the Men's Gym this morning at 10.

Too Few Seats, Drama Held Over

Overflow audiences for the Drama Workshop production, "The Lady's Not For Burning," have prompted a one-day extension of the engagement.

Mr. James Yeater, Workshop director, said spectators have been turned away in relatively large numbers. The only auditorium available for campus productions, Payne Auditorium, holds only about 100 people.

The play originally was scheduled for Wednesday, Thursday and tonight, but has been extended through tomorrow night. Curtain time remains the same, 8:30.

Movies Are Band Theme

Motion pictures of the past few years will be used as the basis of the Sun Devil band's halftime show at the UofA-ASU game tomorrow.

"Pictures at an Exhibition" is the name of the show, suggested by Moussorgsky's composition of the same name.

Under the respective batons of Harold C. Hines, director, and Ronald Holloway, associate director, the band forms scenes suggesting such movies as "South Pacific," "Ten Commandments" and "Showboat." Dance steps done by the band members in two of the formations add an interesting note.

The Band also will present their standard show preceding the game.

One hundred and ten band members, ten pom-pon girls and chaperones will leave Tempe on four buses at 9:30 a.m., tomorrow. After lunching in Coolidge, they should arrive at the UofA at 1:15 p.m.

Sight-Seeing Expedition In Arizona Add To Renner's Geography Course

Dr. George T. Renner, associate professor and chairman of the Geography Department at ASU, not only lectures about the state of Arizona, but also takes students on sight-seeing trips throughout the state.

These outdoor treks give the students a better understanding of the people and land forms that comprise Arizona.

Some of the expeditions Dr. Renner and his students have taken in the past few years were to the Salt River Canyon, Grand Canyon, Supai, Sedona, mining areas of Ray and Hayden, Superstition Mountains, Four Corners (where Arizona, Utah, Colorado, and New Mexico meet) and other points of interest. These trips are made by airplane, jeep and Dr. Renner's Volkswagen.

Dr. Renner was born in Seattle, Washington, July 5, 1928, and since then has lived in various cities from the East to the West Coast.

Travel is high on his list of enjoyments, for he has been in all 48 states, Alaska and the Americas.

One of the youngest professors — 30 years old — to head an ASU department, he received his BA in Education from Stanford University.

He obtained his master's and doctor's degrees from Columbia University.

Dr. Renner has taught Geography at Stanford, Columbia, and Long Beach College, Economics at City College of New

Dr. George T. Renner Travel Is His Favorite Hobby

York, and Geography at ASU. He became head of the Geography Department at ASU in 1957.

On September 2, 1951, he married the former Jane Hussey. He is a member of the Discipline committee and the Traditions committee. He has been a Homecoming judge, and was Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority's "Man of the Year" in 1955.

His wife has been the secretary to the registrar and also faculty sponsor for Tri-Sigma sorority.

American archeology, airplane flying, photography, stamp collecting, collecting fire arms, mountain climbing, golf, and tennis are his hobbies. He was on Stanford's wrestling team, some of the members of which wrestled in the Olympics.

Sigma Chi, Phi Delta Kappa (national honorary in education), Kappa Delta Pi (education honorary), Gamma Theta Upsilon (national professional geography), and Lambda Delta Lambda (physical science), are fraternities of which he is a member.

Also, he has been named to Who's Who, World Directory of Geographers, Leaders of American Science, National Geographic Society, and Arizona Academy of Science.

Elections Board Needs Members, Chairman States

The ASU elections board needs new members, according to Diana Blommel, chairman. The board regulates and supervises campus elections. Any student with a 2.0 index is eligible.

Miss Blommel said interviews will be held Tuesday, Nov. 25 at 4:30 p.m., in the Senate Chamber of the Memorial Union.

Chief Is Needed For ASU Board

A new chairman is needed for the Guidance Board, it was announced today by Warren Summers, ASASU president. Board members are also in demand.

A 2.0 index is required of students interested in serving on this board. Summers said the board has been revised to some extent so that it will be more flexible and serve a better purpose.

Objectives of the group include studying major problems of the students for the purpose of making recommendations to the deans of the Colleges and the Dean of Students regarding particular problems.

Another general function is promoting the organization of a student faculty guidance program within the different colleges.

Specific duties include making suggestions and expressing student thinking to the deans of the Colleges for facilitating maximum student achievement.

The board is also to make suggestions to the deans in order to make out-of-class life more conducive to the furthering of the total education of the student.

Those interested in applying for membership on the board are urged to contact Warren Summers.

Money Given For Research On Heart, Cancer

A gift of $2,500 has been given to Arizona State for research in cancer and heart diseases by the Mesa United Fund organization. Two thousand dollars of it will go to cancer research and $500 to heart research.

The heart money will be used to purchase a digital cardiometer.

Organizations Are Lacking Endorsement

Forty-one organizations have not yet turned in Organizations Approval forms. Deadline for turning the forms in is Wednesday.

Forms may be obtained in MU 202 or Administration 103. They should be completely filled in before being returned to either office.

Organizations which have not turned in approval forms are: Alpha Gamma Rho, Alpha Mu Sigma, American Association of Engineers, American Institute of Electrical Engineers, Badminton Club, Demolay Club, Gymnastics Club, Men's Glee Club, Student Marketing Club, and Varsity Rifle Club.

Also Bahai World Faith Club, Baptist Student Movement, Blue Key, Devils and Dames, Disciples Student Fellowship, Foreign Language Council, Foreign Students Club, Geology Club of ASU, German Verein, and Interhall Council.

Also International Relations Club, Junior Chapter American Institute of Architects, Kappa Alpha Psi, Kappa Delta Pi, Lambda Chi Alpha, M. O. Best "A", Mu Rho Alpha, Off Campus Men, Phi Eta Sigma, Phi Kappa, and Phi Kappa Phi.

Also Pi Delta Epsilon, Psi Chi, Sabre Air Command, Sigma Chi Sigma, Social Welfare Club, South Hall, Student Affiliate of American Chemical Society, Student Education Association, Women's "A" Club, and Young Republicans of Arizona.

Beat The 'Old' U! Essay Competition Starts

ASU students may compete with students from the UofA and ASC for cash prizes in an essay contest sponsored by the federal employees of Arizona. A $100 first prize, a $50 second prize and a valuable merchandise gift as third prize will go to the winners.

"How America Has Benefited Through Seventy-Five years of the Civil Service Act" is the essay topic. Entries are limited to 2,000 words. They should be typed, double spaced, and turned in to the office of Professor Karl Dannenfeldt, Matthews Hall 7, by noon December 5.

ASU faculty judges will select two essays from this institution to compete with two each from ASC and the UofA.

A panel of five judges will then select first, second and third place winners. No two prizes are to be awarded to essays from the same school.

Winners of the contest, held in observance of the Diamond Anniversary of the U. S. Civil Service Act, will be announced at a 6 p.m. dinner at the Elks Park in Phoenix.

Selected essays will be forwarded to the Civil Service Commission in Washington.

EDITORIALLY SPEAKING —

It Took Fortitude

We are on the eve of our annual big scrap with the University of Arizona Wildcats.

When the Devils got off to a shaky start this year, there were a few grumbles and a great many lifted eyebrows. Stories of dissension and senioritis circulated freely.

Then came consecutive victories over Detroit, New Mexico A&M and Texas Western. While it may be truthfully said the team hasn't showed the devastating sharpness of last season, it may also be said it has shown a good deal of fortitude.

It would have been terribly easy for our boys to have lost their spirit after the disappointing trend in the first half of the season. This was never allowed to happen, and despite several serious injuries, we can count on being represented by a group of young men who want very much to win.

We have confidence in the Devils, and will support them wholeheartedly, win or not.

Let's Prove It

"One thing we can be sure of. When Tempe plays football here this year, they will really tear up our campus," Robert Crawford, editor of the U of A Wildcat, wrote recently.

A University of Arizona engineer has been quoted in the press after the recent election as saying, "Well, I guess we can expect the wrecking crews to come in here to carry the school up to Tempe."

Those two statements represent what was perhaps the dominant opinion on the Wildcat campus in the period immediately following the election.

Obviously neither Crawford nor the engineering faculty member had given their statements mature thought before making them. If they had, they would have realized how totally unfounded they were.

Throughout the recent election campaign, Dr. Gamage, student and alumni leaders and other advocates of the name change emphasized and re-emphasized that Arizona State University had no desire either to harm the University of Arizona or to take anything away from it.

Neither on election night nor at any time since has there been anything said or done by any Arizona State University partisan to justify in the slightest such statements as those quoted above.

In fact, we can say honestly that the reaction of the Arizona State community to the election has been, "Wonderful! . . . Now let's concentrate on building the best relations we can with the University of Arizona."

Responsible leaders in the U of A camp realize this is the case. In a recent editorial, William R. Mathews, a member of the Board of Regents, publisher of the Arizona Daily Star and an outspoken supporter of the U of A over the years, said, ". . . the friends of the University of Arizona should accept the decision of the voters, and like good losers extend congratulations to Arizona State University. . ."

Tom McIntosh, president of the Associated Students at the U of A, told ASAS President Warren Summers this week that he and his fellow students don't want to be known as poor losers.

Apparently Tucsonians want to be the best hosts they possibly can on the occasion of this first football game between Arizona's two universities.

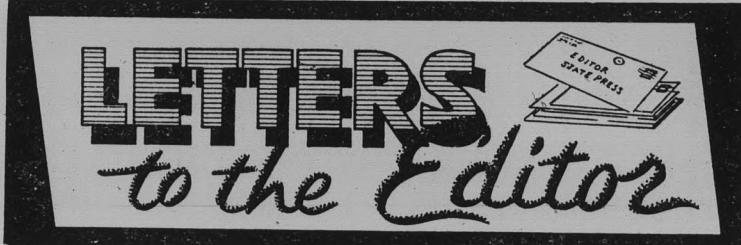

We, in our turn, want to be as good guests as possible.

Of course the Wildcats' hospitality doesn't go so far as a desire for us to win! Nor, for that matter, does our cordiality go so far as desiring a Wildcat win on the football field.

But the Administration, Faculty and Associated Students of ASU are determined that even the most skeptical U of A partisan will have, after tomorrow's game, no slightest lingering doubt about the sincerity of this institution's desire for mutual friendship and respect.

When you go to Tucson tomorrow, please take these thoughts with you. It's much tougher to be a good winner than a good loser. The burden of proof is on us.

Let's prove tomorrow that Crawford and others who felt as he did were selling short the dignity and self-respect of this campus.

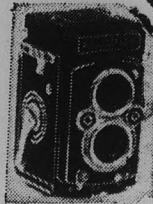

At no point in our University cooperate with them. campaign did the students feel I think that we should re- that we were engaged in a bat- move our YES 200 bumper tle with the University of Ariz- stickers before heading for Tuc- on. "The school — different activities like the name change and meeting people. I am in Orchesis, and I enjoy the acquaintances I make while participating with this group."

Betsey Beaugureau — Frosh.

"Well, I guess it was the night of the name change. All the excitement of waiting while they checked on the mix-up in votes and then the big moment at the announcement that we had won. Confetti throwing, shouting, yelling, band playing, bells ringing and the rally at the stadium."

Beaugureau Harris

Gordon Harris — Sr.

"I can think of two things off hand. Number one was the outstanding Republican sweep in the state election in light of the general disintegration of the party in the rest of the country, and number two, we (my wife and I) bought the first new car we have ever owned."

Gene Welsh — Grad. Student

"The only really big thing that made an impression on me is that we elected a Republican governor for the state. I contributed a small part to this — not as much as I should have I guess. Also the fact that I will have ASU on my diploma come May. I am very happy about that also."

"When you get settled down to this grind of school, it doesn't seem like anything very exciting ever happens. Really it was an attendance at a geological field conference at the Black Mesa Basin, which is on the Navajo and Hopi Indian Reservations."

Weekend Activities Center In Tucson; Greeks From Both Schools Plan Parties

The center of ASU fraternity activities this weekend seems to be in Tucson, with at least six chapters planning parties after the ASU-UA football game tomorrow.

Phi Sigma Kappa members and dates will travel to the Old Pueblo in three buses, leaving here tomorrow morning. Tucson headquarters will be in the Santa Rita Hotel, scene of the group's party in the evening. Pre-game festivities include a banquet at the Golden Drumstick honoring Tucson alumni of Phi Sig.

Dancing, singing, and a buffet dinner will predominate Sigma Phi Epsilon agenda tomorrow evening at the UA Sig-

Ep chapter house. ASU and UA Sig Eps and dates will attend the game together.

Sigma Nus and dates will migrate by car tomorrow, with dancing and dinner awaiting them at the Tucson chapter house after the game.

Members and dates of Phi

Delta Theta and Sigma Chi Sigma will be feted at post-game parties in their respective Tucson chapter houses, as is traditional with both groups.

A "victory-dance" at their motel headquarters in Tucson is on the agenda for Delta Sigma Phis and dates.

Chapel Corner

Religious Clubs Plan Festivities

A big weekend lies ahead for members of the ASU Baptist Student Movement as they journey to Tucson for the football game tomorrow.

Baptist students will gather at 9 a.m. tomorrow at the student center, 1400 Mill Ave. Transportation to Tucson will be provided.

The group will reassemble at the University Baptist Church, 741 E. 3rd St. in Tucson, at 11:30 a.m. where they will gather for a picnic before the game.

After the game ASU Baptist students and their guests will return to the University Baptist church for supper with the UA Baptist Student Movement.

The Martin Luther Society has scheduled a supper meeting for 5 p.m. Sunday. Color slides will be shown at the meeting which is open to members of the organization and their friends.

Sororities To Colonize On Campus

Kappa Alpha Theta and Kappa Kappa Gamma will organize chapters at ASU next semester according to Dr. Catherine G. Nichols, associate dean of students.

The two new groups are holding preliminary meetings now with ASU and Panhellenic officials but will not start actual colonization until early in February. With their establishment there will be 11 national sororities at ASU.

Kappa Alpha Theta was founded at De Pauw University, Greencastle, Ind., in 1870, and Kappa Kappa Gamma at Monmouth, Ill., the same year.

The Institute of Logopedics at Wichita, Kans., established to help alleviate and correct faults in human speech, is the national philanthropic project of Kappa Alpha Theta. Kappa Kappa Gamma's project is Rehabilitation Services.

Mary Shower, Phoenix, and Carol Cotton, San Diego, are ASU students assisting in colonization of Kappa Alpha Theta. Mrs. Prentiss Cleaves, San Diego, is the district president involved in the installation. Mrs. Richard Fennemore, Phoenix, is local chairman of installation.

Two ASU students who will assist in the colonization of Kappa Kappa Gamma are Mayo Owen, Washington, D. C. and Mrs. Gordon Spingler, Phoenix.

More Than One Team Seeks UA Victory This Weekend

The ASU football team won't be the only team seeking victory at the University of Arizona this weekend.

A rodeo is scheduled between the two schools at Garrigan's Arena at 1:30 p.m., with the ASU Rodeo Club sending teams to participate in bull-riding, calf-roping, bareback bronc-riding, and team-tying events.

Year before last, the ASU rodeo team held first place in the Pacific Coast Conference, and last year John Fincher of ASU was top in the conference calf-roping division. He went on to win third place in national calf-roping competition.

Members of both teams will attend the annual Alpha Gamma Rho (Tucson chapter) party Saturday night at the Pima County fairgrounds. Another party Sunday evening at Garrigan's Arena is in store for those team members who feel up to it, according to Stan Hayes, ASU Rodeo club president. Music and dancing will be featured.

Attending the meet from ASU will be Salty Holt, Jim Fowler, Al Goodwin, Joe Morrow, Bill Butler, Bob Snyder, Dick Lucas, Ken Adams, Jim Finnell, and Bill Wells.

Honor Group Adds Member In Ceremony

Alpha Lambda Delta, freshman womens' scholastic honorary, initiated three new members Wednesday evening. They were Ann Ward, Sue McCullough and Marilouise Greene.

New officers elected at the meeting were, Sheila Palais, corresponding secretary, and Merlue Frasier, projects chairman.

Also present at the meeting were Dr. Catherine G. Nichols, Dean of Women, and Dr. Jessie Rannells, head of the Home Economics department.

Two 'U's' To Meet For First Time

Cats Lead Series, 23-8

By PAUL JACKSON

For the first time as a university, Arizona State tomorrow will battle its ancient grid rival, the University of Arizona. The Devils will try for their ninth series victory.

The history books show the Tucson teams to be far out in front in games of years past. They have lost only eight times to AS and racked up 23 wins. There has never been a tie.

In 1899 the AS team, then called the Bulldogs, played only one game and crushed the Wildcats 11-2. However, fate seemed to be against the Bulldogs and the "U" beat them ten times in the next ten games.

The Devils broke the jinx in 1931 with a 19-6 upset. But the Wildcats had their revenge for the next 11 games and AS remained winless through 1948, their highest score during that time being 13 points in the 1947 game which the Cats won.

During 1943-45 football was replaced by the Second World War and the revived AS team of 1946 wasn't sure the war was over when Tucson blitzed them, 67-0.

Ed Doherty took the coaching helm in 1947 and led the Devils in the hard climb back to victory. With 1949's explosive pass combination of Cecil Coleman to Wilford "Whizzer" White, Doherty handed the Wildcats a resounding 34-7 defeat, to bring AS its third win of the series. The Demon coach had lost, 26-13 in '47, and 33-21 in '48.

Doherty left AS in 1950 with a 9-1 season behind him, the best in this school's history to that time. Doherty's overall record at AS was 25 wins to only 15 losses. His '50 Devils racked the Cats, 47-13, for an unprecedented second straight AS win in the rivalry.

The Wildcats took another thrashing in 1951 when the Devils beat them by an astounding 61-14 count for their third consecutive win.

With Marvin Wahlin starring at halfback, the Demons took their fourth Border Conference championship in 1952 after being without the crown since 1940. They beat Tucson again, by a close 20-18 margin.

The Devil winning streak at last was shattered in 1953. "Hatchetman" Dan Cardella and Don "Brotha Beez" Beasley, with the help of a freshman named Art Luppino, handed AS a 35-0 loss.

Luppino was bad medicine to the Devils. In 1954 he romped 180 yards in 24 carries and helped his mates cool off the Sun Valley squad, 54-14.

With a new coach, Dan Devine, at the controls in 1955, AS almost gave the Wildcats a taste of things to come. But Luppino's touchdown and extra point squeezed Tucson through, 7-6, and AS lost the first Devil-Wildcat game ever to be televised.

In 1956, Devine's ripening regime showed its stuff by blanking Luppino and the 'Cats, 20-0, shutting out the UofA for the first time in history.

Last year, the season again belonged to AS and Dan Devine, who smashed Doherty's best season record with an undefeated Sun Devil team. For Tucson, the ironic story was told in Doherty's own words, "If you stop them through the middle and on the ends, they'll pass you to death." The score was 47-7 and the Sun Devils completed a glorious unbeaten-untied season.

1957 ACTION . . . Ron Erhardt stretches the jersey of Arizona's Jack Redhair. Redhair kept his jersey, but the Sun Devils won the ball game, 47-7.

FIG'S FILE

By VIC FIGARELLI

If statistics are any kind of yardstick, then tomorrow's game should be a "two-against-the-house" affair.

Dave Hibbert, catching a vast majority of Ralph Hunsaker passes, and Hunsaker, throwing a vast majority of his passes to Hibbert, have supplied the Arizona eleven with much of its total yardage.

The Devils, on the other hand, dominate the BC's team statistics.

Arizona State is tops in rushing offense, rushing defense, total offense, and total defense, while the Wildcat duo have the individual passing, pass receiving, and individual total offense categories in hand.

This year the point spread ranges from anywhere between eight and 30 points. Hoi polloi in the betting category around the Den seem to favor a 24 to 27 point spread. (This doesn't mean that I'm pushing parlay cards, officer . . .)

So we'll go with the Devils by a 34-6 count.

Other games: COP over San Diego State, New Mexico A&M over West Texas, Iowa State over San Jose, Detroit over Dayton, Trinity over Texas Western and Holy Cross over Marquette.

Hate to mention it, but the prediction slate is now 31-19, for a horrible .620 pct.

You'll be proud as a coach with a new star halfback when you take the wraps off this new Arrow sports wear. That's a Twin Tartan shirt on the man at the left—a time-saver in cotton wash and wear. Another twin idea—the pull-over knit shirts on the man at the right and his date. The sweater? A smart new crew-neck model. Knit shirt, $5.00 up; other shirt, $5.00 up; sweater, $7.95 up.

Wulk Unveils '58-59 Devil Cage Quintet

Arizona State cage fans will get their first look at the 1958-'59 edition of the Sun Devils under coach Ned Wulk and the Sun Imps of Frosh Coach "Fanny" Markham Monday night in the Sun Devil Gym. The two teams meet in an open-to-the-public scrimmage starting at 7:30 p.m.

Both squads have been practicing since Oct. 15 and have been progressing rapidly. The varsity opens its schedule against Whittier College of California Dec. 1, and the Imps play Williams Air Force Base in the Whittier-ASU preliminary.

A Sun Devil quintet of Al Nealey, 6-4, and Billy Pryor, 6-6, at the inside forwards; Paul Denham, 6-3, at the outside forward; and Paul Howard and Ed "Whitey" Olson, both 5-10, at the guards makes up the probable varsity starting lineup.

An alternate unit composed of John Bowen, 6-3, Gary Norton, 6-4, and Tom Hughes, 6-6, forwards; and Jack Heath, 6-3, and Rich Jarvis, 5-11, alternating with Manny Varela, 5-10, at the guards, is also slated to see action.

The freshmen will play a standard 2-1-2 offense with Ollie Payne, 6-4, Harvey Darche, 6-3, and Mike McConnell, 6-6, alternating at the forwards; Dick Catlett, 6-7, at center; and "Chico" Morrison, 6-3, and Les Khunz, 5-11, at the guards.

of Ford, Mike Bartholomew in place of Carr, and Jesse Bradford in place of Widmer. The backfield has left to right: Joe Drake, Joe Belland, John Hangartner, and Allen Benedict. Leon Burton (inset) will start in place of Drake.

AS Dominates BC Figures

Arizona State's Sun Devils have two games left this season to improve their fifth-place ranking among the nation's total offense leaders. Last year they were the country's leaders in that department.

In eight contests this year the Demons have averaged 359.9 yards per game. Iowa is in the lead with a 399.9 clip per tilt followed by Army, Air Force, and Notre Dame.

In rushing, Arizona State is ninth with a 234.9 yard average. Arizona's quarterback, Ralph Hunsaker, heads all throwers with 92 completions. Randy Duncan of Iowa has 91.

In Border Conference action, the Satans lead in team statistics in four of seven categories.

The Demons lead in rushing offense and defense and total offense and defense.

In ground defense, the Kush players have allowed their opponents an average of 140.8 yards a game. Texas Western is second with an average of 194.1.

Arizona State has gained 359.9 yards per game in total offense to second-place Hardin-Simmons' 320.5. In total defense they lead with 249.4 yards to second place Texas Western's 283.
